TELLS NATION TO PREPARE FOR INVASION

Broadcast Says Operation of 'Capital Importance' Due in Time.

IT'S SECOND BULLETIN

Warns Civilians That They Will Hinder Action of Friendly Troops.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—Hundreds of fighting planes and fighter-bombers from the scores of airfields of Britain swept in a series of thrusts over Hitler's channel ports and defenses today, continuing the regular daylight offensive which has accompanied the RAF's heavy bombing drive.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The British radio broadcast instructions to the French people today to evacuate a broad coastal area from the Belgian to the Spanish border, which strip the Germans have designated as a prohibited military zone.

"Operations of capital importance," for the liberation of France will start in due time, said the broadcast.

"Operations of capital importance," for the liberation of France will start in due time, said the broadcast.

"It has been shown on several occasions that the presence of the civilian population on the scene of active operations hinders the action of troops, and particularly of friendly troops, in a very grave manner," said the broadcast beamed across the channel in the regular French language news program.

"The coastal regions of occupied France are likely to become more and more a theater of war operations," the warning continued. "They will inevitably bring with them the gravest dangers for the civil population."

British sources, however, would not discuss the meaning of the broadcast, asserting that it would have to stand for itself without interpretation.

Frenchmen were advised to leave the coastal strip from the Belgian border to the Pyrenees—the mountain frontier with Spain—which has been marked off by the Nazis as a military zone.

This was the second such bulletin of instructions to the French since the British commando raid on St. Nazaire late in March.

It emphasized that evacuation was the only "effective precau-

A. E. F. IN IRAQ?

Germans Report U. S. Troops Arrive in Middle East.

LONDON — (INS) — Reuters (British) news agency said today that the German radio broadcast a dispatch from Ankara, Turkey, reporting that United States troops have been landed at Basra, Iraq.

The report said that 20,000 American troops arrived aboard four transports "without heavy equipment or rolling stock." The troops obviously will be ready in Iraq, it was said.

The German broadcast also quoted rumors that the Americans will be stationed in northeastern Iraq.

NATION-WIDE GAS RATIONS DECISION DUE

Mansfield Motorists to Learn This Week Whether They'll Get Limited Supply.

PRESIDENT TO ACT

Roosevelt Calls Congress Leaders to Conference on Program Today.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON— (AP) —President Roosevelt, who has been studying the possibility of nationwide rationing of gasoline as a measure for conserving tires, invited three house members to the White House today to talk over the problems involved.

Mansfield motorists will learn this week whether gasoline rationing will come to this area and to other sections of the nation not yet affected by government orders limiting the number of gallons per week for most drivers.

This was the indication today in Washington, where observers said President Roosevelt is expected to decide before the week is out whether the rationing of gasoline will be extended to all 48 states as a rubber conservation measure.

Many congressmen have "revolted" against the proposal for nation-wide rationing, and the president was to discuss that problem with his congressional leaders today.

A special house committee, organized at a meeting of irate members last week and headed by Rep. Richard M. Kleberg, D., Tex., also plans to confer with the president this week. They will present their reasons for opposing nation-wide rationing.

Plans for inaugurating the permanent rationing system for the eastern coast are progressing. The office of price administration announced plans for cracking down on operators of gasoline "black markets," whereby filling station operators under the permanent plan will have to keep daily records and bootleggers will be subject to maximum fines of $10,000 or one year in prison or both.

Joel Dean, OPA gasoline rationing chief, said present plans for the east will allow "A" (non-essential) book holders to average slightly less than four gallons of gasoline a week if rationing is not made nationwide. That would be a slight increase over what they are getting now—a little more than three gallons a week.

But if the rationing program is extended to all states, Dean said everyone in the country holding the basic "A" ration book would get a little more than four gal-

Navy Battling Jap Forces Off Alaskan Coast

New Action In North Reported After Crippled Main Fleet of Enemy Breaks Off Contact With Americans At Midway.

(By United Press)

PEARL HARBOR—United States forces are seeking to regain contact with the crippled Japanese main fleet as it limps westward toward Japan while other units are battling Japanese naval forces in the Hawaii-Dutch Harbor area, it was understood today.

Well informed quarters said that behind the carefully restricted communiques on the Japanese fleet defeated in an attack on Midway island was a story of unsurpassed heroism and harrowing experiences by the American aviators which would thrill and inspire every American.

An announcement that the United States forces had lost contact with the enemy fleet, hurled back at Midway, did not necessarily mean the battle had ended.

American forces were believed harrying the enemy, seeking to sink its many damaged ships and to knock out others, and that the chase would end only when the Japanese fleet neared the range limit of American land-based planes.

In the 1,653-mile stretch of the Pacific extending north-northwestward to Dutch Harbor, another battle was in progress, with the result indeterminate because of bad weather and lack of detailed reports.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commanding the Pacific fleet, announced the apparent withdrawal of the enemy fleet from the Midway zone after losing an additional destroyer sunk and perhaps two additional cruisers damaged.

Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, announced at Washington that action in the Aleutian islands zone, started when the Japanese raided Dutch Harbor Wednesday, continued.

Nimitz, in the latest communique issued at his Pacific fleet headquarters here, disclosed minor submarine activity in the vicinity of the Hawaiian islands.

He announced that a United States destroyer had been sunk, with light casualties, by an enemy submarine in the Midway fighting.

This made the total United States losses as so far announced one destroyer sunk and one aircraft carrier damaged.

The Japanese lost, in a blazing four-day aerial-naval battle:

SUNK

Aircraft carriers—Two sure, probably three, with all their planes, totaling anywhere from 60 to 160.

Destroyer—One.

DAMAGED

Battleships — Three, at least one badly.

Aircraft carriers—One, probably two, both seriously; most of their aircraft, numbering anywhere from 30 to 80 each, destroyed.

Cruisers—Four to six, at least two heavily.

Transports—Three.

Both here and at Washington, the commanding admirals refrained from claiming a definite victory in the Midway battle, specifically because the enemy fleet had not been destroyed, but had withdrawn.

But each hour which passed made it seem more certain here that Japan had suffered its greatest defeat in its brief naval history.

Admiral King, at Washington, had called the Coral sea battle off eastern Australia, which ended a month ago today, "another decisive setback to the Japanese."

It seemed beyond doubt that in the Midway battle with a far larger force engaged, Japan had blundered into a trap and had taken a beating which would mark one of the big mile posts

SIX INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Galion Youths Have Brush With Death as Car Tears Down Power Line.

Six persons were injured, one seriously, in traffic accidents in the Mansfield area over the weekend as restrictions on automobile tires sharply curtailed highway travel. The state's death toll was unusually light with only seven persons dying in crashes.

Although none of them was injured, four Galion youths had a close brush with death from electrocution early yesterday when high-tension wires, knocked loose from a utility pole near Galion, dangled close to the metal chassis of their auto.

Galion police reported that an automobile operated by Andrew Martinez, Galion, crashed into a utility pole at the intersection of Bucyrus and North Robinson roads near Galion Sunday at 2:40 a. m.

When police arrived at the scene, they found no trace of the automobile nor the occupants. High tension wires, knocked down when the pole was

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—In a 5 to 4 decision, the supreme court ruled today that a newspaper has the right to make agreements with its employes whereby they will receive a uniform rate of pay per week even though they work more than 40 hours in some weeks.

WHAT'S THIS?

2,500 See 23 Recruits Sworn In As Pearl Harbor Avengers

The United States Navy had 12,326 new recruits today—23 of them from the five-county area served by the Mansfield Recruiting station, after mass swearing-in ceremonies throughout the nation six months to the minute after the first Japanese bomb fell on Pearl Harbor.

With Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox characterizing the occasion as symbolizing the nation's determination to restore peace "by administering just punishment to those who have brutally and willfully transgressed all the laws of humanity," the ceremonies were conducted at precisely the same moment in more than 500 scattered cities.

In the ceremony in Mansfield's Central park yesterday afternoon more than 2,500 looked on as Ensign Richard L. Cullen of the navy's district office in Cleveland administered the oath to the 23 recruits. The group left Cleveland this morning to start training at the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

A survey today showed that Mansfield's group was larger, by two men, than that sworn in at Columbus. At Cleveland, 172 were given the oath of allegiance.

Earl Saltzgaber, chairman of the Richland Victory Civic committee, who presided at the ceremony here, pointed out that the occasion provided Mansfield the first opportunity in the 19 months the civic committee has been functioning to pay tribute to a group of men leaving for navy service.

He hailed the attendance as proof of the desire by residents of this area to bid farewell and Godspeed to navy recruits. Whereas the civic committee stages civic

Induction Orders For Men In 3-A Draft Class Move Closer

Induction of Richland county's draft registrants in the 3-A classification—particularly those whose wives are working—moved closed today.

Ohio selective service officials announced at Columbus that the monthly draft calls of the state's 330 local boards have been stepped up and that inductions will continue at an increased rate.

The number of men to be inducted remain, as before, a military secret.

Draft boards have been instructed to recheck their lists with particular attention to 3-A classifications and to reclassify registrants not entitled to deferment because of dependency. Other classifications also are to be rechecked, the state draft officials said.

Selective service headquarters at Columbus also is cooperating with industrial and manufacturing organizations in calling meetngs for the purpose of clarifying questions related to deferment of industrial workers.

The three draft boards in Mansfield were given indication in recent weeks of the approaching step-up in the induction rate when they received calls for large contingents of men to be delivered to induction centers in July. These followed calls for unusually small groups in June.

Boards here have still not received definite word whether the June contingents will be inducted under the new system of granting men immediate two-week furloughs if they are accepted for service upon their final examinations at induction centers.

PROTESTS CITY BLACKOUT LAW

Industrial Defense Chief Says Ordinance Hardship on Industry Here.

Mansfield's blackout ordinance, passed last Tuesday by city council ran into its first snag today when James F. Carrigan, defense chief at the Westinghouse plant, voiced objections to the heavy cut it would make in war production operations unless the ordinance is modified.

Carrigan, who is in charge of the defense organization at the Westinghouse plant, said that Westinghouse was willing "to cooperate 100 per cent in blackouts" but that the system prescribed at present "was not practical for industrial plants."

DIES IN PLUNGE

Youth Tumbles Down Shaft at Abandoned Mine.

CANTON —(AP)— A state mine rescue crew today recovered the body of 14-year-old Paul Davis from an 80-foot ventilating shaft at the A. F. Deibel and Sons company mine near Waynesburg.

The boy plunged into the pit after descending a ladder 20 feet. With his father, Clarence Davis, and a 12-year-old brother, Richard, he was in quest of water. The well on the family's nearby farm had gone dry.

The elder Davis said Paul, preceding him and Richard into the inactive mine, cried that he was slipping before losing his grip on the ladder. Fireman Howard Lover of Canton, wearing an oxygen bask, was overcome while attempting to tie a rope around Paul's body.

LONDON—(AP)—The Belgian government in exile reported today that violent fights have broken out between German troops returned from the Russian front and German occupation forces in some places in Belgium.

The government said 5,000 Nazis recently arrived in Binche from the eastern front and that the fights occurred after the front troops criticised the occupation forces in the town.

REPRISAL: Jap Subs Shell Australian Coastal Cities

(By United Press)

MELBOURNE—Defense authorities ordered a 1,200-mile strip of the New South Wales coast, industrial heart of Australia, blacked out to a depth of 100 miles inland effective tonight as the result of the shelling of the suburbs of Sydney and Newcastle by Japanese submarines early today.

Sydney was shelled at 12:50 a. m. and Newcastle, 80 miles to the north, at 2 a. m.

In each attack, Japanese submarines shelled the suburbs of the ports blindly, apparently in revenge for the deadly toll Allied planes and guns had taken of the enemy's new underseas fleet in Australian waters.

The shelling did less damage than a normally heavy rain and wind storm but authorities decided to take no chances because of the danger that the Japanese, stung by their Midway defeat, might resort to desperate measures.

Army Minister Francis M. Forde announced that the government could be relied on to take all steps to prosecute the search for the shelling submarines, and for others undoubtedly off the southeast coast.

It was believed at Sydney that the shells which the Japanese sub-

STOPPED: British Artillery Halts Nazi Drive In Libya

(By International News Service)

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS, LIBYA—British artillery batteries have halted German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's main armored forces which sought to advance through a new attack against imperial positions at the Knightsbridge crossroads, the Middle East high command announced today. A new attack by German and Italian units against Free French forces defending the oasis of Bir Hacheim at the southern end of the 60-mile desert battle front also was repulsed, the communique revealed.

The battle around Knightsbridge in the torrid "devil's cauldiron" area of Libya was described as the fiercest of the desert war.

In other zones along the 60-mile battle front from El Gazala in the north to Bir Hacheim to the south the Axis forces were either retreating or unable to advance.

The Libyan campaign appeared to be nearing a decisive phase of the opposing tank forces churned and turned on the sweltering sun-baked sands west of Knightsbridge, 28 miles southwest of Tobruk. # THE WAR TODAY

By CLARK LEE

PEARL HARBOR —(AP)— The smashing defeat imposed on Japan's navy by American air and sea power in the battle of Midway has undoubtedly brought greatly near the day when Allied Nations will be able to launch an all-out offensive against Japan.

The American triumph means that a corner has been turned in the second phase of the Pacific war—much sooner than many expected.

This second phase began in the Coral sea, after the fall of Java and the encirclement of the Philippines had ended the first stage —war on land.

The task of the United States then became twofold: first, to strengthen quickly what areas remained in control of the United Nations from Australia, through Hawaii, to Alaska; second, to cut down Japan's sea power to safeguard those areas from attack and at the same time prepare for the eventual offensive.

An effective though not decisive start toward this second objective was made in the battle of the Coral sea. Now the battle of Midway has seriously crippled the Japanese fleet and especially the fleet air arm.

Aircraft played a principal part in both the Coral sea and Midway operations, and a majority of the damage to enemy vessels was inflicted by dive bombers and torpedo planes, supported by land-based aircraft of all types.

Such battles proved the Japanese have no monopoly on tenacity and ferocity of attacks. The Midway fight was not a hit-and-run engagement, but one in which the Americans sought and achieved decisive results by pressing home their attacks despite opposition.

Midway again showed beyond doubt that the American naval air force is better trained, better equipped, more skillful and more daring than the Japanese fleet air arm—and the Japanese naval air force is greatly superior to that of the Japanese army.

Our naval planes were strongly supported by army as well as marine corps aircraft.

Midway also re-emphasized the dominant importance of aircraft in the Pacific war. All of Japan's early victories were won mainly through air supremacy and her only severe defeats — Macassar strait, Coral sea and Midway—were inflicted principally by aircraft.

Japan's attempt to drive headlong against the Hawaiian islands rather than trying to cut America's communications lines to Australia at some less vital point was undoubtedly influenced by realization of the increasing strength of United Nations air power — that thousands of planes being turned out in American factories will some day be a decisive factor in smashing Japan as well as Germany.

If the Hawaiian islands could have been taken, the American air force would have been pushed back to bases on the United States mainland, and part of the growing threat to Japan eliminated.

The Japanese apparently hoped to blast Midway's defenses, then occupy the island, and with airplanes clearing the way, move step by step against Oahu itself.

They also probably hoped to damage seriously American sea forces, especially aircraft carriers.

Their attacks on Dutch Harbor seem to have been mainly an effort at diverting American forces.

In any case, the Japanese were not only outfought, but outguessed and outmaneuvered. They again showed their inability to modify a long-conceived plan in face of unexpected developments — in this case the strong opposition they met.

Japan's suicidal — as it turned out—thrust against the Hawaiian islands may also indicate an element of desperation in Tokyo's strategic and economic situation plus realization that despite sweeping triumphs in the first months of war, the Japanese are again partially encircled and are just feeling the full, grim strength of United States fighting power.

Certainly there is desperation today in Tokyo's naval office, where Hari-Kari swords are probably being sharpened by admirals who can picture all too vividly the sinking of Hirohito's blazing warships and the death struggles of thousands of Japanese sailors in oil-soaked, wreckage-strewn waters.

EARLY DECISION DUE ON PAY FOR MEN IN SERVICE

Question Comes Up In Senate Again, Battle Expected Over $46 Monthly Plan.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Congress today headed for a decision on how much Uncle Sam is going to raise the pay of his soldiers and sailors and how much he is going to provide their dependents.

The pay raise question comes up before the senate again with a battle expected over a senate-house conference agreement recommending a basic pay rate of $46 a month.

While senate conference committee members are optimistic over chances of the compromise being accepted, Sen. LaFollette (P., Wis.) said that he will move for rejection of the conference report and seek approval of the $50 base pay figure twice approved by the house.

Rep. Rankin (D., Miss.) predicted that the house will insist upon the higher base of pay when the matter is again taken up by the lower chamber.

LaFollette said he is "particularly determined to seek the $50 pay since I learned that only three of the five senate conferees are standing between the senate and the $50 rate."

"I do not believe the senate will take responsibility for chiseling $4 monthly off soldiers' pay envelopes," he said.

The house is scheduled to act on its allowance-allotment bill to provide support for enlisted men's dependents.

After a hearing by the house military affairs committee on a senate version of the measure, the lower chamber will consider its own bill which gives a soldier's wife $40 a month—$20 from the government and $20 from her husband's pay. An additional $10 is provided for each child.

The senate proposal provides $28 from the government and $22 from the husband for a $50 monthly total. It also carries a draft classification scale based on dependency which is not covered in the house bill.

Both measures also provide support for parents, brothers, sisters and other dependents.

The campaign, now in its second week, is expected to show substantial gains as reports of the township workers, many of them unheard from so far, reach U.S.O. headquarters. Mrs. John Pierce, chairman of solicitors, said she expected these reports Wednesday.

WATCH YOUR LANGUAGE, BUD, THAT TRUCKER MAY BE A GIRL

(By Associated Press)

MILFORD, O. — That little blond in overalls you saw in the cab of a semi-trailer truck wasn't the driver's girl friend—she was one of a corps of truckerettes piloting monsters of the road for the duration.

Women who three months ago considered a truck only an annoying highway obstacle have become expert in handling anything from a small delivery "job" to a big six-wheeler.

Training of 26 volunteers began after Homer H. Ernest, defense council director in this village of the Hamilton-Clermont county line, was unable to find men truckers for the "salvage for victory program."

Women volunteers were required to be excellent drivers of passenger cars, even tempered and not nervous.

They were assigned first to smaller trucks, then to a long wheelbase four-speed lumber vehicle. Next came instruction in maneuvering coal trucks and handling the hydraulic hoists installed on them.

Finally the women learned to drive semi-trailers, school buses and furniture vans.

The highway patrol, meanwhile, taught the girls regulations governing trucks in Ohio and experts gave short courses in the care of brakes and clutches and lubrication.

Twelve already have completed instructions and some are driving for firms co-operating in the project. Several have been offered steady jobs.

Edina Turner summarized the attitude of the driverettes:

"I signed up because I was an experienced driver and felt I could handle a truck far better than a hospital ward."

GIRL, 17, DIES

Loudonville High School Grad Succumbs at Home in McKay.

LOUDONVILLE—A member of the 1942 graduating class of Loudonville high school, June Leatherow, 17, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elza Leatherow, died of a throat ailment this morning at her home in McKay. She had been ill three weeks.

She was active in high school organizations being a member of the Betty Lamp club and the Girls Athletic association. She was a member of the Hayesville Methodist church.

Surviving are her parents; three brothers, George and Ross at home, and Will of Hayesville; a sister, Alvina at home; and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Leatherow and Edwin Funk, all of Perrysville.

The body was removed to the Swank Funeral home at Loudonville where services will be conducted at 3 p. m. Wednesday. Burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery near Perrysville.

PLANT, UNION OFFICIALS MEET

Discuss Contract At Ashland's Myers Pump Plant.

ASHLAND—Representatives of the F. E. Myers and Bros. company and officials of the Molders' and Machinists' unions, AFL affiliates, opened negotiations for a new contract yesterday afternoon and evening with a conference to be resumed this afternoon.

Officials and office employes of the company were permitted to return to work last Wednesday under an agreement negotiated by Federal Labor Conciliator Dan Hurley but the 650 plant workers have been idle since last Monday, pending negotiations of a contract to replace the one which expired May 31.

Laff-a-Day

"...ng of shortages, Butterby, will you step c... here a minute?"

Mansfield police were called out Saturday night to investigate a "shooting" at the shooting gallery at North Lake park. The boy reporting the "shooting" said that another boy, who was in charge of the gallery, had "parted his hair" with a bullet. Police investigated and found that the boy in charge had accidentally discharged one of the guns. They reprimanded the owner of the gallery and brought the youthful "gunman" home to his parents.

Firemen at Central station today found that one part on their antiquated aerial ladder truck was more antiquated than it should be for safety purposes. In a routine inspection, the firemen learned that the tops of the spokes of one of the truck's wheels had been sheared off and that the wheel had been greatly weakened. The damage was found before any accident occurred, however. New spokes were placed in the wheel.

A dead carrier pigeon that is believed to have met its fate while winging its way home was brought to the sheriff's office today by a farmer residing in the Lexington area. The man said it found it on the highway north of Lexington. A metal band around one leg of the pigeon carried the registration number, AU41H5182, while a rubber band on the other leg bore the number D924.

ILLNESS FATAL

J. H. Bechtel, 79, Succumbs; Funeral Wednesday.

John H. Bechtel, 79, retired Mansfield building contractor, died this morning at General hospital following a brief illness.

Born July 26, 1862 in Blair county, Pa., he came to Mansfield 35 years ago. He was a member of the Brethren church and made his home at 13 North Mulberry street.

Surviving are two sons, Lee K. Bechtel of Navarre, and Loren Bechtel of California; two daughters, Mrs. Robert K. Ort of Mansfield; and Mrs. Gladys Brumenshenkel of Dayton; a sister, Mrs. Lee Stoudnour; and two brothers, Ira and Alva Bechtel, of Roaring Spring, Pa.; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be conducted at 1 p. m. Wednesday. Rev. Barnard of Dayton, will officiate. Burial will be at North Liberty.

SENATOR SAYS WE'LL SURPASS AXIS SHORTLY

Thomas' Report Sets Highest Figure Yet Given For Plane Production.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Sen. Elmer Thomas (D., Okla.) today disclosed that American airplane production has soared to nearly 5,000 planes a month as a spokesman for the industry reported that U. S. output will soon exceed that of Germany, Japan, Italy and the occupied countries.

While army and navy officials decline to reveal the exact plane production, the figure given by Thomas, chairman of the senate appropriations military subcommittee, is the highest that has ever been given to the American public.

That American plane production will soon top efforts of the combined enemy was revealed by Col. John H. Jouett, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America. In a special progress report, Col. Jouett also announced that plane output has increased nearly 85 per cent in the six months since Japan attacked Pearl Harbor.

In addition, Col. Jouett stated that many striking advances in manufacturing technique, design of new, harder-hitting, further-ranging warplanes, labor training and other phases of the industry's all-out war production effort, have been made.

The two reports indicate that new factories are swinging into action and rapidly increasing the steady stream of planes for America's armed might. Earlier in the year, Speaker Sam Rayburn was permitted to say that production had reached 3,300 planes monthly.

"We are making nearly 5,000 planes a month and by the end of this year will be making planes at the rate of 10,000 a month," said Thomas. "I don't see how our foes can stand out against us with such a remarkable record by American industry.

"My information is that we have: (1) the fastest planes; (2) planes using the largest cannon; (3) the best trained men in the world.

'Bantam' Beer Bottle Has Its Day In Court

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The "bantam" beer bottle had its day in court today.

A special three-judge federal court opened trial of a suit by the De Luca Distributing company, Akron, and two liquor dealers who seek to overthrow a state liquor board ruling against use of seven-ounce beer bottles.

The suit was filed in federal court after the board ruled that beer should not be distributed in less than 12-ounce bottles.

Judges were Florence E. Allen, Cleveland, sixth district U. S. circuit court; and district judges Mell C. Underwood, Columbus, and John H. Druffel, Cincinnati.

Tribute To Navy Recruits

"TO BEAR true faith and allegiance to the United States of America, to serve them honestly and faithfully against all their enemies whomsoever—"

It was an impressive moment in Central Park at 2:25 Sunday afternoon as 23 young men repeated after Ensign Richard L. Cullen those words of the Navy oath of allegiance. These 23 young men, drawn from the five counties served by the Mansfield Navy recruiting station, are this area's representatives to more than 12,000 "Avengers of Pearl Harbor" who were sworn into the Navy at precisely the same moment.

Twenty-five hundred residents of Mansfield and vicinity witnessed the ceremony, which was timed exactly six months to the minute after the first Japanese bomb fell on Pearl Harbor.

Ensign Cullen told the crowd that Mansfield has made an enviable record—that it is a leader among cities of the nation for the percentage of its population now serving in the Navy.

He told the recruits of their new heritage—of men like John Paul Jones, of Perry, Decatur, and Dewey.

"It may not come to you to be heroes," he said, "but Navy leaders can't be heroes without the men of their ships. You have a big job to do. You will now be a part of America's answer to Japan."

The rest of us join with Ensign Cullen in his words to the recruits which closed the ceremony:

"A happy cruise to you. You are now in the Navy."

Consider 'War Fund' Set-Up Here

PROPOSAL to extend Mansfield's Community Fund into a War Fund, for the duration, merits serious consideration, with probable justification for favorable action.

It has already become apparent that the total of worthy organizations soliciting public contributions for support of their work is far in excess of the ability of any one community to conduct separate campaigns in behalf of each of them.

Establishing a War Fund of sufficient amount to continue the support of essential local agencies and to also budget a representative amount to each of the national service and relief organizations selected for inclusion, would remove the need of organizing and conducting a succession of drives throughout the year, as is now being done, with unavoidable overlapping in some instances.

This plan would also serve to make it possible for individuals and families to estimate requirements for contributions on an annual basis, instead of having unexpected calls from week to week, and would encourage larger subscriptions to a general fund.

Much time and effort is now being required, on the part of hundreds of Mansfielders, to carry on the work involved in each of the campaigns and if this can be concentrated in one big drive for a comprehensive War Fund it appears that considerable benefits would result.

Will Motorists Ration Themselves?

OPPORTUNITY is now given to justify the confidence of some legislators that "motorists will ration themselves" in the use of gasoline, "because they know that when their tires are worn out they won't get any more for quite awhile."

Proposed nation-wide rationing of gasoline is designed as a paternalistic restraint on unnecessary use of tires instead of being induced by actual shortage of gasoline in the area west of Atlantic coast states.

It is much along the line of a parent doling out candy to a young child, so that a pound can be made to reach through a week instead of all of it being eaten in one day.

Most motorists know by now that moderate speed—not above 40 miles an hour—gives greater mileage per gallon of gasoline and also lengthens the life expectancy of tires. It is also known that non-essential driving requires gas needed for other purposes and wears out tires. It is therefore reasonable to assume that driving will be reduced to a minimum and that speed will be held within 40 miles an hour—without compulsion. Or is this too much to expect?

Declining Interest In Baseball

ORGANIZED BASEBALL has found a worse enemy than the war. This enemy is located on American soil and consists of the New York Yankees. Last year they won the American league pennant by a 17-game margin, and took four games out of five in the world's series. That makes five years out of the last six in which they have won the American league championship, and in each of these years they carried off honors in the series. This year, with the season less than a third gone, they have a good lead, and seem destined to coast in.

It is not merely monotonous, it is boring to the customers. Only when the Yankees come to town are the stands full. When the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago White Sox played a much publicized game for the benefit of the navy, less than 8,000 persons turned out. Other cities make like reports. With the pennant race practically settled, the fans think there is nothing interesting left to fight for.

The National League is less troubled, although there Brooklyn has a substantial lead. The minor leagues each stand, or fail to stand, on their own feet. Theoretically it should make no difference to them what happens in the American League. But when such a prominent organization suffers from the over-development of one team, the whole game suffers.

Silver Plentiful, Chromium Scarce

THERE'S some style about army mess now. The soldiers are not only getting good meals but eating on silver.

This metal is so plentiful that the government, which is under legal obligation to keep on buying the current production, and can't get it into circulation, is using it to plate the army eating tools. The chromium, formerly used for that purpose, is thus freed for military use.

Something's being said about curing colds by rubbing carrot juice on the body—so, after all, some use may be found for carrot juice.

A Londoner who writes verse is pleading for "justice for poets"—but wouldn't that be too drastic?

Not all the false reports come out of Berlin—for beyond the Alps Italy still lies.

CONVENIENT KEY FOR BURGLAR-PROOF LOCK

Aviation Gains In Army Favor

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

UNCLE SAM'S army command seems to have surrendered almost unconditionally to aviation. Anyway, General George C. Marshall, who, as our chief of staff, ought to be able to speak with authority, addressing this year's graduating class of West Point cadets the other day, urged every single one of the group's 374 members to enter the air service.

It was to have been expected that he'd ask for a fair percentage of 'em, but the entire outfit!—that was going some.

At such a rate, why won't our army consist exclusively of aviators before many more West Point classes have been graduated? General Marshall appeared to imply that, if so, it'll be satisfactory.

He didn't deprecate preliminary West Point training, because, he explained, there are "military intangibles" that a flier needs to be familiar with, in addition to the technique of plane operation over an enemy terrain, but it evidently is his judgment that the intangibles' essential purpose is to lead on into the vital "tangibility" of super-competent airmanship—just as any child requires some primary instruction to fit him for subsequent adult activities. They're mere reading, writing and 'rithmetic, though, in comparison with what's to follow.

I've had occasion before to refer to army and navy men's comments on the plane's possibilities.

Limitations?

They conceded that aviators are indispensible observers, frightfully destructive raiders and, both as between themselves and, in certain cases, as combatants against landings and seamen. But they've maintained that the sky-forces can't land in a country and occupy it permanently, that they can't swoop down on distant targets without carriers to take off from, that they can't transport supplies in adequate quantities to keep a foreign invading force, under their own colors, in action.

Now, aviation development has begun to deflate this idea.

Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board is establishing an air cargoes committee that'll evolve a plane equal to carrying freight and ammunition almost without limit — to anywhere.

Heretofore a plane's been rated as good for carrying a small crew and a few handfuls of bombs adequate to fret a small spot on the landscape. Such raids have had their morale effect, maybe—but not the military kind.

Yet a morale raid can have its military reaction. It's obvious in Japan. Current dope is that U. S. Aviator Doolittle has given the Japs the jitters.

Aviation, apparently, is going to turn over into freight trains and carriers of big bodies of troops, to be landed and "dig in."

Donald Nelson's objective is a plane that can deliver up to 80 tons of supplies, military or whatnot, as far as 2,000 miles away and in one-tenth the time required for the stuff's transportation by any other means. It's a financially economical method of delivery, too.

Aerial Freight.

But this isn't a circumstance in comparison with what is proposed by Col. Edward S. Evans, once of the quartermaster corps, later president of the Lockheed company, now head of the Evans Product corporation, well known as the "father of aviatorial gliding." Colonel Evans proposes aerial freight trains, with a flying locomotive in front and three gliders coupled on behind each of 'em. He says he can make deliveries in about treble the quantities suggested by Nelson.

Now, those figures apply to military merchandise.

Express it in terms of men!

Say these boys weigh 200 pounds apiece—a pretty liberal allowance. That means 2,400 fighters per train. At such a lick of arrivals, they'd made a dent in any enemy on earth before long. And their supplies would be accompanying 'em, in supplementary freight trains.

If this thing works out militarily according to Hoyle, it'll be interesting to watch what it'll do to peacetime passenger and commercial transportation after the war.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, June 8, 1922.

Traffic officers appeared in white topped caps, to distinguish them from other officers.

Building and loan officials from 12 counties were holding district meeting at Westbrook Country club.

Ralph Ackerman was elected councilor of Purity council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Mrs. Jesse W. Porch died at her home, 221 North Mulberry street.

J. M. Cousins was called to Toledo by the death of his father.

It was noted that J. William Bloor had gone through entire 12-year public school course without being absent or tardy.

St. John's Evangelical congregation gave reception for Rev. G. A. Kienle, prior to his departure on trip to Europe.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. George Watson, 114 Park avenue west.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the United States, died at his home, "The Hermitage," near Nashville, Tenn., on June 3, 1845. Jackson was elected president in 1828 and re-elected in 1832. He had also participated in the 1824 elections where he received more electoral votes for the office than did John Quincy Adams but the election was decided in the house of representatives and Adams became president.

Should Children's Tonsils Be Removed?

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE TIME of year has arrived when the summer vacation will rob Johnny and Mabel of their last excuse for not having their tonsils out.

Arguments go pro and con about whether tonsils should be removed and I am frequently dragged into these discussians, but I have no fixed opinion on the subject. The only thing I am certain of is that no general rule can be laid down and each case must be judged on its own merits.

I do not believe that all tonsils should be removed from children before they reach the age of ten years, although I have heard this opinion expressed. Nor do I believe that tonsils should not be removed at all. Plenty of people get along in perfect health without tonsils.

Function of Tonsils.

In fact, our knowledge about the function of the tonsils is very limited. I have just been trying to find out in several textbooks on the Nose and Throat what the functions of the tonsils are and everyone concludes by agreeing that they do not know. Only a few facts stand out. One is that the tonsils are lymph-like structures related to the lymphatics elsewhere in the body, that they form a ring of tissue all around the back of the throat.

The other members of the ring are the adenoids, the lingual tonsil at the base of the tongue. Another positive fact is that the tonsils are very large in infancy and childhood and tend to become smaller as time goes on. Therefore, tonsils which would be perfectly normal in a child of two or three years are definitely abnormal in a person of fifteen to twenty. Large tonsils in later years usually mean that they have become the seat of infection. In that case they should be removed.

Stopping Infections.

The tonsils certainly serve some function in stopping infections on the outposts of the body and naturally they are subject to attacks of acute tonsilitis which may turn into chronic infection so that at the age of ten to fifteen years it is probable that the tonsil has outlived its usefulness and is doing more harm as a harbor of infection than good.

It is valuable to consider why tonsils were taken out and what results occurred. According to some recent figures, the commonest causes for removal were:

Frequent colds—One year after operation 90 per cent of these cases were improved.

Frequent sore throat—One year after operation 96 per cent of these patients were improved.

Mouth breathing—One year after operation 93 per cent of these were improved.

Enlarged glands in the neck—Improvement occurred in about 40 per cent of cases.

Ear trouble—Improvement occurred in about 50 per cent of cases.

Rheumatism—Improvement occurred in less than 1 per cent of cases in children and in about 30 per cent in the joint pains of adults.

Such are the facts and the elements on which one has to decide whether or not tonsils should be removed.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington Pleased By Results Of Secret Parleys With Russia

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Strictest secrecy has shrouded the conversations which have been taking place between the Russians, the United States and the British. The Soviet government has asked that no mention be made of any of the personnel taking part in the discussions, and this has been rigidly observed.

However, it can be revealed that U. S. officials are highly pleased, have found the Russians very reasonable, and that some of the most important discussions of the entire war—involving even peacetime boundaries—have been taking place.

Two possible stumbling blocks were feared. One was the Russian request for a U. S. declaration of war against Finland. The other was the Russian desire to map out her frontiers after the war is over.

However, neither proved difficult.

War Against Finland.

THE Russians long ago had asked the United States to declare war on Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Finland—all of which, except Finland, had declared war on us. Secretary Hull, however, demurred, said that these were mere puppet governments doing the bidding of Hitler. So no action was taken.

But the Russians came back with some very pointed observations as to how well these "puppet" soldiers were fighting at Odessa and Kerch and asked us if we still considered them puppets.

During the recent conversations, therefore, Roosevelt yielded to the Soviet and sent his message to congress asking for a declaration of war against Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria.

In regard to war with Finland, however, we told the Russians that it had not declared war against us, that the presence of the U. S. legation in Finland gave us an excellent military listening post and also helped to influence large groups of the Finish people who basically are much more with the United Nations than with Hitler.

The Russians agreed.

Future Boundaries.

THE question of post-war boundaries was much harder. Actually, this question was raised about two months ago when Stalin sent a proposal to London whereby the British were to agree to restore Russia's pre-World war boundaries—to include Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, part of Poland, and a large slice of Rumania.

The British, however, remembered the criticism heaped upon Lloyd George, Clemenceau and the Allies for pledging Italy certain territory under the secret agreement of 1915. So Churchill, stalling for time, sent the agreement to Washington by Ambassador Winant to get our reaction.

Our reaction was negative. We indicated to the Russians, as diplomatically as possible, that such an agreement would be in violation of the Atlantic Charter. Whereupon the Russians came back with the reminder that these territories—Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, part of Poland and Rumania—were in Russian hands when the Atlantic Charter was signed, so it did not apply to them.

Here the matter rested until a couple of weeks ago, when a Russian emissary in London secured a British agreement that Russia's pre-1914 borders would be reinstated. Roughly, the Soviet was to get:

1. The three Baltic states.

2. An eastern strip of Poland beginning at a point west of Vilna and following a line south through Lwow.

3. All of Bessarabia, Moldavia and Bucovina, the three big Rumanian provinces which formerly were Russian.

This British-Russian agreement was then put before the United States—and fireworks were expected.

FDR on the Spot.

ROOSEVELT was in a tough spot. He could not enter into a secret deal regarding the boundaries of Europe without risking all sorts of political fireworks in the senate. And yet he did not want to offend our most potent ally—Russia.

So, very firmly but politely, he took the position that the United States could make no commitments regarding Europe, that Europe was not our bailiwick, and furthermore that it would only create dissension among the United Nations to begin any parcelling up of territory before the peace conference.

Russian diplomacy has a habit of pressing for every possible advantage, if they see any sign of weakening on the part of the government across the table. But in this case there was no sign of Roosevelt weakening, and the Russians accepted the American position with good grace.

Other questions discussed included a second front against Hitler by England and the United States, also a second front against Japan from Siberia. Information regarding this phase of the negotiations cannot be disclosed except to say that American conferees were highly pleased with the results.

Note—It probably was no coincidence that Japan's raid on Alaska was staged at a time when closer cooperation between the U. S. and the USSR regarding Alaska seemed just around the corner.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — You can always tell a New York hotel man as far as you can see him. . . . His clothes are expensively tailored. . . . The creases in his trousers are like the edges of razor blades. . . . His shoes glisten like glass. . . . He always wears a white carnation in his lapel. . . . His nails are manicured. . . . There is a deceptive casualness to his walk. . . . He can stroll through a crowded lobby and call a hundred people by name. . . . He stands proudly, head erect, shoulders square. . . . He has an ingratiating personality, and yet in an instant his eyes can turn as hard as a .45-calibre bullet. . . . This has to be. . . . Fakers gravitate to a metropolitan hotel as naturally as flies to the paper. . . . If you have never seen the cold, flinty stare in the eyes of a hotel man as he faces a phoney, you have missed a great deal. Hotel men have to be hard, and they have to be ingratiating, but in the right places.

CHARLES E. ROCHESTER, managing director of the Lexington hotel, is a product of Louisiana. . . . He is responsible for the great vogue Hawaiian music and entertainment have enjoyed in New York during the last five years. . . . He is an addict of plane travel. . . . He likes horse races and baseball games. . . . He also likes to entertain his friends with dinners and with screenings of his travels through the Hawaiian Islands, in the Bahamas, and other tropical localities—filmed in color. He is generous to a fault. He lives by a hard code — and it works. Be square with him, and you are his friend. . . . Play him false, and he is through with you for life.

Bob Christenberry, vice president and general manager of the Astor, is another southerner who made good in the big city. He hales from Tennessee. . . . The town is Milan. . . . During the last war he served as a Marine and lost an arm. . . . But that didn't keep him from developing into a cracker-jack golfer. . . . That didn't keep him from becoming a successful executive. . . . In addition to his overlordship of the Astor, he is also president of the Broadway association.

STILL another southerner (this isn't a frame-up, honest) is Frank L. Andrews, president of the Hotel New Yorker. Frank is from Shreveport, Louisiana. He became president when Ralph Hitz died. . . . A couple of years ago his name bobbed up among the ten best dressed men in America (what did I tell you about that carnation). He is president of the New York Hotel association. How did he begin his career? As a room clerk, in a San Francisco hotel, years ago.

Frank Case is manager of the Algonquin, most famous of all theatrical hotels. He has written three books on his experiences as a hotel man. Also a cook book on favorite recipes. Known to every actor, actress, and writer in the United States.

A Farmer's Diary

Travel Accident

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

BIG SISTER was away overnight and did not go along to grandma's in the car on Sunday. Four little brothers had more room than usual on the rear seat—and no ready hand to enforce such commands as "Sit down, Don't push. Keep the window closed—be careful, we're going to stop!"

All the way—a distance of forty miles—they had lots of fun. They laughed and sang and quarreled, by turns — they made sounds like airplanes and machine guns and farm animals. They added their ages and declared they were 24 years old and didn't we think they should have ice cream cones for their birthday? With such amiable foolishness we were indulgent—only warning them to sit still on the cushion and not stand up beside the doors lest they fall out.

The day was warm and rainy. We stayed until late afternoon and started home in a shower of rain. The car was close with the windows closed, and our small brothers found it hard to sit quietly on the rear cushion. The pattering rain, the sun that shone from beneath a low western cloud, the rainbow overhead—all brought eager boyish shouts of "Look, look!" A herd of cattle were dripping in a pasture—they craned their necks to see . . . then suddenly the rear right door flew open and a little blueclad figure tumbled out. I turned my head and knew the sudden gone feeling of empty space where just now had been a laughing boy. The car was moving no more than 20 miles an hour, yet it seemed to take a long time to get it stopped.

Pale, the oldest boy jumped out and hurried back, calling out as he went. "He's getting up! It didn't kill him."

The four-year-old came running up with a bloody face convulsed with tears. A patch of skin was off one cheek and a great bruise was on his forehead. His nose was swelling. His mother wiped his face as best she could and laid him with his head on another brother's lap. Three sober little boys looked on. Another car drove up and stopped. "We saw it happen. The little fellow's cap is back there on the berm." The older brother made another trip to get it.

We drove on, slowly. "If we'd listened and sat still, this wouldn't 'a happened — Bill mighta been killed," we heard one say to the other. "Now after this I'm going to see that you sit down—if I have to take my fist! Get that? Have I got your permission,' Dad?'

With a nod, I delegated the desired responsibility. Experience does keep a dear school—but I believe we learned our lesson.

DENIES HOLMES COUNTY BOARD'S PLEA FOR FUND

U. S. Says Money For Adding to Hospitals Needed In Other Areas.

MILLERSBURG — Hopes of Holmes county commissioners for federal aid in the expansion of the Holmes county Joel Pomerene Memorial hospital were dispelled last week when word was received that owing to limited funds made available by the Community Facilities act the local institution would be denied the $25,000 requested for its use in adding to that building.

The commissioners had made the request of the federal government expecting that, because of Millersburg's proximity to the Canton and Massillon industrial area, the local hospital might be needed for use in civilian defense. However, federal authorities stated that they are at present considering only those projects in which the influx of defense workers has actually occurred rather for those where added usage is anticipated.

Holmes county voters last summer approved a special levy to provide funds for the addition of a new wing on the hospital and the erection of a nurses' home. The levy is expected to raise approximately $30,000.

However, since the levy was passed, war broke out and prices have risen to the extent that the funds derived from the levy will not be sufficient to make all the improvements as planned.

Holmes county commissioners and trustees of the hospital are now considering, since the federal aid has been at least postponed, how far they will be able to go in carrying out their previous plans for improvement of the hospital.

COMPANY OK'S COMPROMISE IN RATE DISPUTE

Ordinance Passed By Shelby Council Approved; Average Consumer Pays 71 Cents.

SHELBY—Officials of the Ohio Fuel Gas company today notified city officials here that the company had approved the compromised gas rate ordinance passed by city council on May 4.

Although the new rates set up in the ordinance are slightly higher than the present scale, the ordinance is lower than a five-year, graduated scale asked by the gas company. The rates are a compromise between the graduated scale and a renewal of the old rates which city council wanted.

Under the new rates, the average 5,000-foot consumer will pay 71 cents a thousand cubic feet of gas, compared with the 69-cent rate paid under the old ordinance.

The new rates are: 20 cents per hundred cubic feet of gas for the first 500 cubic feet of gas, 6 cents per hundred cubic feet for the next 1,500; 5.5 cents per hundred for the next 23,000 and 5 cents per hundred for all in excess of 25,000.

The increase in rates will mean approximately $1,800 in increased revenue annually to the gas company.

The monthly billings will increase from one cent for the 700-foot consumer user up to 82 cents for the consumer of 25,000 cubic feet or over under the new rates in comparison with the old scale.

City council has pointed out that a survey showed that even with the slight increase in rates, Shelby's gas scale compares favorable with other cities in the same population size.

With the approval of the gas company given on the ordinance, it will go into effect as soon as the billings can be changed by the Shelby office of the company. It is expected that the first of the billings under the new scale will go out late this month or early in July.

PLAN OUTING

CRESTLINE—Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Knapp entertained pinochle club associates Friday evening. The group made plans for a picnic at Roadside park, west of Crestline, for their next meeting.

BROTHER KILLED

BUCYRUS — The tragic explosion which resulted in death to 21 workers at the Elwood, Ill., ordnance plant Friday, touched close to Bucyrus, when word was received that Ralph Williamson, 28, brother of Miss Ruth Williamson, nurse at Bucyrus City hospital, was one of those who lost their lives in the blast.

Mr. Williamson was married and the father of three children. Miss Williamson left immediately for Elwood upon receiving the word.

GALION COUPLE WED SATURDAY

Hilda Louise Mann Becomes the Bride of Virgil Kenneth Logan.

GALION — At an open church ceremony Saturday at the First Presbyterian church, Hilda Louise Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil J. Mann, was united in marriage to Virgil Kenneth Logan, son of Mrs. Harriet Logan.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Lewis Alkire of Mansfield and Earl Logan of Galion. Willard Logan and Ivan Mann were ushers.

Prenuptial music was furnished by Mrs. Ella Kanable, who also played the wedding march from Lohengrin as the processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march for the recessional. Large baskets of garden flowers decorated the altar.

A blue marquisette street length dress with white accessories was chosen by the bride for her wedding dress, while a red and white dress was her choice for her going-away costume.

Mrs. Logan is a graduate of Iberia high school and Mansfield Business school, and has been employed as a secretary at the Central Ohio Steel Products company. Her husband is a graduate of Galion high school and is employed at the Galion Iron Works company.

The couple left for an undisclosed destination following the ceremony. They will be at home at 620½ North Market street.

DEDICATE NEW BUCYRUS CAMP

Public Inspects Engineers' Quarters Sunday Afternoon.

BUCYRUS—Bucyrians were afforded the opportunity of visiting the new camp at the fairgrounds where approximately 700 men of the 753rd engineer's battalion are stationed, Sunday afternoon at a dedication of the camp.

Official inspection of the grounds and buildings was in progress throughout the afternoon.

A parade of Bucyrus fraternal and patriotic organizations from the American Legion home to the camp, launched the program. Included in the parade was the local medical detachment of the Ohio State guard under the command of Lt. Gen. C. A. Lingenfelter.

E. C. Oppenlander gave a brief welcome to the soldiers and the dedicatory address was given by William C. Beer, Sr.

Soldiers of the 753rd Engineers Battalion now stationed at the fairgrounds have been invited to another of the series of entertainment being planned for their pleasure by local organizations, Saturday.

The event will be a dance to be held in the Armory and the Medical club of the medical detachment of the Third Infantry, local home guard unit, are sponsors.

Music for dancing will be furnished by Art Shreffler and his band from Shelby.

DEATH CLAIMS FRED L. FOGLE

GALION — Fred L. Fogle, retired farmer, died at his home here Saturday. He had been ill several months.

Surviving are his widow, Martha, and two brothers, Morris and George, of Mt. Gilead.

Mr. Fogle was a member of the First Methodist church and a member of the Masonic lodge at Chesterville.

Funeral services will be held at the residence Tuesday at 2 p. m. Rev. W. N. Robertson will officiate. Burial will be in Chesterville cemetery.

FORMER GALION GIRL MARRIED

Loretta Fabian Weds Doctor In Recent Ceremony at Baltimore, Md.

GALION — Word has been received here of the recent marriage of Loretta Fabian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fabian, to Dr. Ivor I. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Morgan of Issaquah, Wash.

Corpus Christi church in Baltimore was the scene of the wedding which took place June 4.

Attending the couple were Teresa Fabian, sister of the bride, and Dr. Frank Kolucki of Washington, D. C.

The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. John Buckley. Both the bride and her attendant were attired in pique, the bride's gown being white pique, of floor length, the bodice made of eyelet embroidery with a sweetheart neckline. The bridesmaid's dress was pink pique. Both carried arm bouquets.

Since her graduation from Galion high school the bride has been employed in Washington in a secretarial position at the office of the price administration.

Dr. Morgan received his bachelor of science degree from George Washington university where he also received his doctor of medicine degree. He is a member of Alpha Kappa Kappa fraternity and the William Beaumont club, an honorary medical society.

BUCYRUS GIRL WEDS ENGINEER IN CHURCH CEREMONY SATURDAY

BUCYRUS — Miss Mary Jane Sears, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. J. D. Sears, and Richard E. Heine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Heine of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, took their marriage vows Saturday afternoon in a pretty wedding in First Methodist church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractive in white satin, made with a train and trimmed with heirloom lace handed down three generations through the bride's paternal grand parents. She carried white gladioli centered with a white orchid.

Betty Lou Sears, sister of the bride, her maid of honor, wore pastel green and carried yellow roses. Bridesmaids were Miss Elsie Beerbower of New Salem, Pa., Miss Dorothy Huff, Dover, O., Miss Margery Robinson, Uhrichsville, O., and Miss Nell Hughes of Canton, college classmates of the bride. Pastel gowns made similar to that of the bride were worn by the attendants.

Chester W. Schmidt of Fort Wayne, Ind., fraternity brother of the bridegroom, was his best man. Ushers were John Sears, jr., brother of the bride, Roger Beuttell and William Harris of Cleveland, classmates of Mr. Heine, and Malcolm Talbott of Bucyrus.

Rev. A. J. E. Manton read the single ring service at the altar where the wedding party stood beneath an arch of flowers and greenery.

Miss Virginia Wise was at the organ for a half hour prelude of nuptial music and to accompany Miss Eloise Gedney of Maplewood, N. J., class mate of the bride, in singing a group of numbers.

Seventy-five guests were received at the Sears home after the ceremony where they were served from a buffet table presided over by Miss Alice Nye and Mrs. Albert Reece.

The couple left in the early evening for Milwaukee where they will establish their residence.

The bride, an honor graduate of Bucyrus high school of the class of 1938, was graduated in June from Flora Stone Mather college in Cleveland. She also attended Ohio Wesleyan university. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and of Delta Phi Upsilon and Lux honorary societies.

Heine is a graduate of Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland, and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, national social fraternity. He is an engineer with Kearney and Treckers Engineering corporation in Milwaukee.

Heel Print Leads To Apprehension Of Theft Suspect

MILLERSBURG — Sheriff Harry L. Weiss has apprehended Holmes county's first tire and tube thief suspect.

A 16-year-old youth was arrested and is awaiting hearing in Holmes county juvenile court on charges of stealing a tire and tube from a car owned by Raymond Herman of Winesburg.

The theft occurred on Decoration day. Sheriff Weiss, tracking a suspect from the scene of the crime across a field to the highway on which his car was allegedly parked, took imprints of the tracks and traced the cobbler who had put the unusual shaped heels on the shoes worn by the suspect.

The youth confessed to having stolen the tire and tube and will be arraigned before Probate Judge F. W. Fankhauser within the next few days, the sheriff said.

OPEN CENTER TO ENLISTED MEN

BUCYRUS—Non commissioned officers and enlisted men were given privileges of the new recreation center which has been undergoing renovation and remodeling on South Poplar street, for the first time Saturday night.

Although not completed on the exterior, the inside of the house, which was donated for the use of the center by Henderson and Lutz, funeral directors, presents a cozy appearance.

Donations of furnishings, curtains and other equipment have converted the large attractive rooms into a center which can be used by service men in the city for a place to lounge and meet their friends.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE OF WEDDING PLANS

Friends Learn At Dinner Sunday That Miss Marjorie Maul Will Become Bride of Clevelander On June 27.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT dinner was given Sunday for Miss Marjorie Maul, 209 South Foster street, by her mother, Mrs. Carl Maul, and twin sister, Margaret. Original verses on the place cards revealed that Miss Maul will become the bride of Benjamin Seidel of Cleveland on Saturday, June 27. Closed church will be observed for the ceremony which will be performed in the First Lutheran church at 4:30 p. m.

The bride-to-be is a nurse in Cleveland. Mr. Seidel, son of Mrs. Susan Seidel of Reading, Pa., is purchasing agent for the Ohio Crankshaft Steel company in Cleveland.

Twelve friends of the couple were guests at the dinner which was served at 5:30 p. m. Color scheme for the attractive table decorations was green and white. A basket of daisies was placed beside a centerpiece which represented a pool of water. Individual corsages which were made by Miss Margaret Maul and were given as favors, encircled the "pool." The green and white place cards contained pictures of Miss Maul and Mr. Seidel in heart-shaped frames. Theme of the party was "Daisies won't tell, but the place cards will."

The home was attractively decorated with garden flowers. Prizes in bridge were won by the honoree and Mrs. John Hattery. The hostesses presented Miss Maul with an electrical gift. Out of town guests were Mrs. Russell Rilley, sister of the prospective bridegroom, and the Misses Shirley Rood, June Phillips and Mary Edwards, all of Cleveland.

Couple Married Sunday To Live In South Bend

Miss Joanna Hess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Hess of Ashland, became the bride of Huber M. McCuen, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. McCuen, Acker drive, Coolridge Heights, at 4.30 p. m. Sunday. The single ring ceremony took place at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Martin Shively of Ashland college.

The bride wore a street-length white frock made with a long, fitted bodice and very full, gathered skirt. The sleeves were three-quarter length and large buttons extended from the neck to the waist at the back of the dress. The former Miss Hess had a small white hat with veil and her other accessories also were white. Her shoulder corsage of gardenias was tied with white ribbon. A three-strand necklace of pearls was her only jewelry.

The newlyweds were guests at a buffet dinner given at the home of the bridegroom's parents. The bridal table was centered with a bouquet of mixed flowers. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. C. W. Plank and Mrs. Ted Tucker of Ashland, sisters of the bridegroom. After the dinner the couple left for South Bend, Ind., where they will make their home. For traveling Mrs. McCuen wore a navy blue wool suit with American tan accessories.

Bride is a graduate of Ashland high school and has been employed by the Home company in that city. Mr. McCuen was graduated from Ashland high school and Ashland college. Before entering service he was coach at Ruggles high school. He is now a chief petty officer in the navy and is on the staff of instructors at the V-7 Indoctrination U. S. Naval Training school, Notre Dame university, Notre Dame, Ind.

Shower, Luncheon For Mrs. Williams

Mrs. Gordon Williams, the former Betty Perman, was honored with a shower at the home of Mrs. Ralph Armstrong, 46 East Raleigh avenue. Luncheon was served buffet style on a table set with crystal having pink and yellow garden flowers.

Prizes for the bingo game were won by Mrs. Ralph Perman, Mrs. Lloyd Armstrong, Mrs. Thelma Washington, Miss Christine Williams, Miss Thelma Heilman, Miss Betty Elrod and David Armstrong, who in turn gave them to the honoree. Another shower for Mrs. Williams is being planned for June 13.

Picnic Planned By Social Club

Mrs. Fred Dillon and Miss Gladys Shingleton entertained the Woodville Social club at the Dillon home on the Newville road, recently. Twenty-five members and three guests were in attendance. The visitors were Mrs. Florey Tucker of Toledo, Miss Elaine Bowden and Miss Eileen Secrist. Prizes in bunco were awarded to Mrs. W. G. Perry, Mrs. Mayme Ulm and Mrs. Tucker.

Plans were made to have a family picnic at North Lake park on June 24. Luncheon was served at small tables with garden flowers as decorations. Hostess for the meeting on July 10 will be Mrs. Dean Pipes, 60 Chilton avenue. Mrs. Minnie McCullough will assist.

Church Society Holds Meeting At Pluck Home

Members of Lucretia Hedges unit No. 6 of the First Methodist church held their regular meeting recently at the home of Mrs. N. A. Pluck, 189 Bartley avenue. Associate hostess was Mrs. G. E. Hedges and Mrs. George Hout. Mrs. R. L. Fox had charge of devotions. Business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Hout.

Each member responded to roll call by naming her favorite flower. An excellent and impressive review of the study book, "A Christian Imperative," was given by Mrs. Edwin Cooper, guest speaker. Miss Ethel Hughes, program chairman, presented Gloria and Muriel Morgan, pupils of Mrs. H. H. Clingan, who played several piano selections. Mrs. Minnie Grabler read an interesting article on "Victory Gardens" from "Methodist Women," the organization's magazine.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee. Next meeting will be held July 3 at the home of Miss Nellie McIlvain. Associate hostesses will be Mrs. Roma Campbell and Miss Rebecca Grubaugh.

Dorothy Thierlein, Alexander Sayers To Wed June 28

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thierlein, jr., 255 Rowland avenue, announced the coming marriage of their daughter, Dorothy Eleanor, to Alexander I. Sayers. He is the son of Mrs. L. O. Shields, 20 Bartley avenue, and Alfred Sayers of McKeesport, Pa. Mrs. Shields served as associate hostess.

During the two-course dessert luncheon, the wedding announcement, which was concealed in the cake, was found by Miss Betty Wehinger. The 12 guests sat at a long table decorated with pink roses and white candles. They received individual corsages.

The prize winners in the cootie games, the Misses Edna Boswell and Joan Turner, presented their awards to the bride-to-be. The wedding will be an open church service on June 28 at the Park Avenue Baptist church. Rev. Albert L. Linder will perform the double ring ceremony at 11:30 a. m.

Miss Eileen Turner will be the maid of honor. Charles Burton will serve as best man. Carolyn Thierlein will be the flower girl and Charles Capps of Akron will be the ring bearer. Both Miss Thierlein and Mr. Sayers are at present employed by the Bell Telephone company.

"The Authority on Authorities"

THWARTING A SQUEEZE

MANY of the fanciest double-squeeze plays could be thwarted if the defenders realized soon enough what was being attempted by the declarer and used the correct methods. When a declarer begins to run his long suit and compel discards by the defenders, a high signal by one of them can sometimes tell his partner that he will protect a particular suit—the one which contains an entry card from one of declarer's hands to the other—so that the partner may then throw away his cards in that suit. This then enables the partner to retain protection elsewhere.

One declarer in a duplicate made that contract by means of a double-squeeze after West led the diamond 10 to the A. He figured out the double-squeeze he would build and then cashed the diamond K, club A and K and ran the seven spades. When the last was led he also held in dummy the heart 3 and the diamond J, his own hand retaining the heart A-8 and the club 7. Since East alone then guarded the club with the J, he could not throw that and so had to trash one of the two hearts he held. The club 7 was then discarded and West was squeezed. He had to keep the diamond Q to guard the J, and so could not also protect the hearts.

That squeeze was defeated at another table, where the declarer tried to build it the same way. When the diamond K was played by declarer to the second trick, East did not discard the heart 5, as at the other table, but the 10, to tell West he would protect that suit. This made it easy for West to hold on to protection in both minor suits, or that the squeeze did not work.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"No, they won't," Jack answered promptly. "Fortunately—I'll always believe in Fate after this—the page which blew away from Redfield's pile of papers, and which Mary so cleverly salvaged, has the principal items of the key to my whole work.

"Futhermore," he went on, "without my recovery of this particular page all my work would have been useless, for I would not dare to trust my memory of the key calculations."

"What good are those cryptogram pages to the gangsters? Do you suppose they are in touch with anyone who can translate them?"

"I don't think so," he answered "I think they counted on getting hold of Professor Diswell and torturing him until he should consent to translate the cryptograms.

"Fate certainly had a hand in your arrival," he went on. "Diswell would have died before he gave them any information.

"Of course, if the cryptogram had dealt with something of interest or profit only to myself," he added. "I should not have hesitated a moment. I should have spilled everything, to save Diswell.

"But this thing is of tremendous importance to the defense of the nation, if I can only get in touch with the proper people and have a chance to make the experiments I wish."

Thought He Was Safe.

"I thought Diswell's place was safe, and I had done some preliminary spade work there after I was able to sit up. You see, I spent the first two weeks there flat on my back, under the old fellow's very efficient nursing. And see what I brought on the poor old chap! Now I know only that I must shove off again before I endanger anyone else dear to me."

I knew better than to contradict him.

"I remember your old dislike of making carbons or copies of anything," I told him, smiling. "But is there no copy anywhere of those vital cryptograms?"

He hesitated before replying.

"I think I would better not answer that question," he said. "What you do not know—"

"Do you think?" I interrupted hotly, "that any pressure could induce me to give up sucha secret?"

Declines To Answer.

"Rein it in, red-head!" he adjured me, using words often on his lips in my teen age which used to make me furiously angry.

But his next speech was tenderly apologetic.

"Dear girl," he said, "don't I know that you would be torn into inch pieces before you would reveal any secret you thought you ought to keep? But I don't choose that you should be subjected to any such decision, so—I'm not going to answer that question."

He came over and put his hand on my shoulder.

"I'm sorry not to be more tractable," he said, "but I simply must go my own way. First I must go back to your father and Professor Diswell. But please believe, Margaret, that I never can forget the new hope about Katharine which you have given me, to say nothing of your other help."

PACIFIC BATTLE SCENE SHIFTED TO FAR NORTH

Navy Meets Enemy Off Alaska After Main Jap Fleets Limps Away From Midway Defeat.

of the war toward an Allied victory.

Naval experts today began to piece together, from the scant official reports, the story of the battle of Midway.

They believed that in the early stages the United States planes, army, navy and marine, fought to keep off Japanese planes attempting to attack the two little coral-reefed islets which make up Midway.

They saw United States navy carrier-based planes, dive bombers and torpedo planes, rocketing past enemy fighter planes and through a hail of anti-aircraft gun fire to attack the Japanese fleet.

Big land based army planes, flying across hundreds of miles of trackless sea, then joined in the fight.

Finally, it was believed here, United States navy surface units may have closed with the Japanese fleet while carrier-based planes aided in pressing home the attack.

Attacks of such daring as those the United States airmen have pressed home in this fight could only result in a number of casualties, it was emphasized.

It was believed that now some of these men were afloat on their rubber life rafts, with little food and water, hoping that a patrol plane would see them and send help.

But there was every indication that a great American victory had been won at a remarkably small cost in lives and combat units.

Hold Attack On Hawaii Still Possible

WASHINGTON— (U.P.) —Naval observers today believed that despite the heavy losses suffered by Japan in the Coral sea and Midway battles an attack on Hawaii still is possible.

They found support for their views in Admirl Ernest J. King's unwillingness to say yet that the powerful enemy naval force that attacked Midway had been defeated and his emphasis that because of Hawaii's position "it must be held at all costs."

The experts said withdrawal of the Japanese fleet need not imply that it was going home. They contended that it was possible for the Japanese to reorganize and get reinforcements for another try at what is now considered to have been their objective—capture of Hawaii.

The Japanese realize that Hawaii is the keystone of the United States Pacific defenses, they said, and will take all sorts of risks—as they already have demonstrated—to knock out that vital outpost.

King's statements were made at his first press conference since becoming commander-in-chief of the U. S. fleet shortly after the war began.

King, a tall, bald, stern-faced sailor, read a long statement of the general background of the titanic battle that has been going on in the Pacific for nearly a week and then answered questions.

"Did the Japanese throw everything into the battle?" he was asked.

"Perhaps not everything, but the bulk of it," he replied. "One of their methods of doing things is not to send a boy on a man's job."

"The situation in the area of Dutch Harbor is obscure because of bad weather," he said. "We have none too clear a picture of what is going on up there, but it is going on."

MacArthur Hails Midway Victory

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS, Australia — (INS) — General Douglas MacArthur, America's current No. 1 military hero, today sent a message of congratulation to the fighting commander of the United States Pacific fleet, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, on the "splendid victory" won over the Japanese in the sea and air battle around Midway.

"The splendid victory at Midway has aroused the greatest enthusiasm throughout this area," Gen. MacArthur said.

"The prime minister of Australia (John Curtin) asked me to join his felicitations to those of all ranks here.

"My own pride and satisfaction is boundless.

"We shall not fail."

Japs, Axis Silent On Midway Battle

(By United Press)

Japan and its Axis friends maintained a discreet silence today about the battle of Midway island but emphasized Japan's semi-anniversary celebration of its sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

Japan reviewed its successes since Dec. 7 and in the schools, teachers read to their pupils the imperial edict of Dec. 8 in which the Mikado declared war on the United States and Britain, a full day after the Japanese forces had made their treacherous first attacks.

Japanese imperial headquarters issued a boastful communique that the Japanese had taken 342,000 prisoners including 25,000 Americans, 64,000 Britons and 24,000 Netherlanders.

It put Japanese casualties at 9,174 killed and 20,720 wounded.

It said the Japanese army had destroyed 1,636 Allied planes and had captured 240, and that Japan had lost 348 planes.

Circus Performer

Helen Partello (above) one of the featured performers with the Cole Brothers Circus, which appears at the Mansfield fairground Thursday in afternoon and evening performances, is the daughter-in-law of Mrs. Alice Partello, of 580 Park avenue west. She is an aerial performer and one of the three girls directing the elephant herd of the circus. Helen Partello's husband, Win, also is with the circus, serving as concession auditor.

HALT ROMMEL'S LIBYAN DRIVE

British Artillery Slows Up German Tanks In Desert Battle.

Bir Hacheim. The Axis spearhead struck at the rear of the imperial forces based at Knightsbridge.

Rommel's spearhead included 50 to 70 tanks and he appeared to be flinging in his greatest available strength in an effort to make some recovery from the failure of his original offensive.

Observers at the fighting front believe the German commander entirely underestimated Britain's desert strength in his do-or-die offensive and ran up against an unexpectedly powerful imperial fighting combination of tanks and planes.

Some estimates placed the number of Germans and Italians thrown into the Devil Cauldron battle at 20,000 men. British, Free French, African and other imperial troops along the entire front are believed to total at least 100,000.

Sevastopol Repulses New Nazi Attack

MOSCOW — (U.P.) — Sevastapol, Russia's great Black sea naval base, now in its 219th day of siege, battled the third major assault by Axis forces today.

For the last three days, fighting against superior odds, the garrison, supported by the Soviet Black sea fleet and the Red air force, has been turning back large-scale attacks and inflicting heavy losses, official dispatches said.

At the other end of the 1,800-mile battle line, on the Karelian front, fierce air battles were fought when German planes attempted to raid objectives behind the Soviet lines, Tass, the official news agency, reported.

The Germans tried to storm from land and sea the unyielding defenses of Sevastopol, the army newspaper, Red Star, said, and bombers came over in mass.

Claim British Tank Attack Blocked

ROME — (By Official Italian Wireless)— (INS) —German and Italian forces in the Libyan desert have frustrated a British tank attack and captured large quantities of booty, the Italian imperial command claimed today.

A number of prisoners were taken, including the general commanding the 10th Indian motorized brigade.

LOSES FINGER

CRESTLINE—Phil Moleno of South Seltzer street had his finger amputated Sunday at Emergency hospital as the result of an accident at the Pennsylvania railway shops.

'Play Up' Repulse Of Jap Fleet

MOSCOW—(AP)— The United States communique on the repulse of the Japanese fleet near Midway was published prominently today by Pravda at the top of the foreign news page in space the Communist party newspaper recently gave to Britain's 1,000 plane bombings of the reich.

There was no editorial comment on the sea fight or its outcome.

2 AUSTRALIAN CITIES TARGET OF SUB ATTACK

Jap Under Sea Craft Blasts Blindly at Sydney, Newcastle.

marines fired were of German origin.

A few houses were damaged and there were a few slight casualties. There was no damage to military objectives.

Shells started screaming over Sydney, Australia's second city, in the early hours of this morning. Shore batteries responded and naval craft put out in search of the attacking craft.

Shortly afterward, shells struck in the suburbs of Newcastle, 80 miles up the southeast coast.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the attack in his general headquarters communique No. 56, which reported also Allied plane raids on two Japanese bases in Portuguese-Dutch Timor island northwest of Australia.

Chinese Retain Control of Chuhsien

CHUNGKING — (INS) —Japanese forces today were in possession of the strategic airfield at Chuhsien, 45 miles west of Kinhwa, while Chinese defenders battled the invader furiously in hand to hand combat to retain control of the city itself.

A communique of the Chinese high command acknowledged that the Japanese had won control of the airfield, some 700 miles from vital areas of Japan, but said that Chinese forces still remained within the walls of the city and were fighting the enemy in the streets.

(Tokyo claims said that all of Chuhsien had been occupied Saturday.)

Far to the southwest in Yunnan province, bordering on Burma, 34 Japanese planes raided Chinese-held Yunnan towns, the Central news agency reported. Six of the Nipponese fighter planes were said to have machine-gunned streets at Paoshan.

West Coast Still On the 'Alert'

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—The west coast today entered its sixth consecutive day on the special alert against surprise attacks by Japanese naval or air forces, following the raid on Dutch Harbor.

However, the extraordinary precaution taken by the western defense command in ordering a radio silence in the three west coast states was lifted for the first time last night.

For four successive nights — Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday — broadcasting stations in Washington, Oregon and California went off the air during the hours of darkness. Last night the ban was lifted and radio stations resumed normal operations.

Registration For Sugar For Canning Under Way Today

Residents of Mansfield and others in the 10 townships served by the Mansfield rationing board today started their trek to John Simpson junior high school to register for sugar for canning purposes.

With 25 school teachers acting as registrars, the registration will continue daily for 10 days. Hours of registration are from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. daily.

Today's opening registration was for those whose surnames start with the letters A and B. Tomorrow is for the C and D group, and a similar alphabetical arrangement will be used throughout the course of the registration to avoid large crowds on the early days of registering.

The 10 townships served by the Mansfield board are Madison, Mifflin, Springfield, Sandusky, Troy, Washington, Monroe, Jefferson, Worthington, and Perry.

Applicants must bring their war ration books with them, and must be prepared to tell the registrars how much fruit they canned last year and how much they expect to can this year.

One pound of sugar will be allowed for each four quarts of fruit to be canned. The amount allowed per family is governed by the board.

Irate Customers Stage Donnybrook, Wreck Carnival

CHICAGO — (INS) — The "Four Star Shows," a carnival which had been showing in the outskirts of suburban Maywood, was a shambles today following a riot in which 3,000 persons stampeded the grounds.

Scores of fights sprang up between customers and carnival attendants amid shouts of "tear the place apart" and the battles developed into a surging donnybrook that raged nearly two hours before riot squads of police dispersed the rioters.

Police said the brawl started last night when carnival employes tried to discipline a number of youngsters racing about the grounds and spectators saw the boys being cuffed around. Later, the riot was touched off, according to police, when a customer at one of the booths demanded a payoff on one of the games and the operator refused.

For The New Houston

A couple of Navy men shake hands because 1,000 Texans decided to man the new cruiser, soon to be commissioned, to replace the gallant Houston, sunk in action recently by the Japs. They're Chief Turret Officer Roy E. Johnson and Chief Commissary Steward Thomas M. Potts. They look perfectly competent to square matters with the little sons of Hirohito.

Each of the recruits was presented a testament and other gifts by members of the Navy Mothers club.

Principal speaker at the ceremony was Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of First Lutheran church, who told the recruits they will get "a training second to none" as they start Navy service.

He drew a parallel between Pearl Harbor and the Civil War's Cold Harbor. There is today another harbor, he said—the "Harbor of Glory which these who have gone to service have entered."

Other speakers included Mayor W. J. Locke, Commander Sam Fox of McVey Post American Legion, and Mrs. Earl Brissell of Shelby R. D. 2. Mrs. Brissell is the mo-

The Legion Drum and Bugle corps provided music for the occasion.

At 2:20 Ensign Cullen began to speak. He told the recruits of famous Navy heroes—Jones, Perry, Decatur, Dewey. He told the youths that although they may never have the chance to become Naval heroes, they have a big job to do. He congratulated Mansfield on its performance—and pointed out that the city is one of the leading communities in the nation as to the percentage of its population in Navy service.

Precisely at 2:25 p. m., Cullen strode from the platform to the ground. Facing the 23 recruits he administered the oath of allegiance, then shook hands with each man, extending him the familiar Navy welcome remarks of "Happy Cruise" and "Welcome Aboard." with that, the 23 were in the Navy.

W. G. Cox, chief officer at the Mansfield Navy recruiting station, was in charge of arrangements for the occasion.

Following the ceremony, the recruits were guests of the Park theater, where the picture "Remember Pearl Harbor," is being shown.

U. S. Furnishes Wheat Storage Bins In Holmes

MILLERSBURG — Ten steel grain storage bins are being shipped to Holmes County by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to ease the wheat storage situation here, according to Fred C. Schnell county AAA chairman.

Government-owned 1941 loan wheat will be transferred to the bins from elevators in the county, the chairman said, to make room for the newly harvested wheat.

The ten bins allowed Holmes county will be located at Big Prairie and Lakeville where approximately 12,000 bushels of wheat is now stored in elevators. Bins will be located on land which will be leased by the government.

Each bin has a capacity of about 1200 bushels. The bins will be sent from Illinois where they were used to store 1938 and 1939 corn.

SIX INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS IN COUNTY AREA

Galion Youths Have Brush With Death as Car Tears Down Power Line.

sheared off, sputtered and broke into flames. About 200 feet away, a broken automobile door and several pieces of a radiator grill were found.

Galion police later picked up Martinez, who admitted his car had struck the pole. Police said he had abandoned it on a side road because he had been operating the car without a driver's license. With Martinez at the time of the accident were Wesley Treish, Elmer Post and Peter Martinez, all Galion youths. None was injured.

Crawford county authorities said that Martinez would be prosecuted on a charge of operating an automobile without a driver's license and would be held responsible for damage to the utility pole and lines.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Freese, 38 and 36 respectively, of 292 Second avenue, were injured yesterday at 1 p. m. when their automobile left U. S. Route 42, three miles west of Ashland, hit a tree and overturned. State highway patrolmen said the accident occurred after a rear tire blew out.

Both were taken to the Samaritan hospital at Ashland where hospital attendants said today that Freese's condition was "very poor." He suffered fracture of several ribs and it was feared that they might have caused a lung injury. Mrs. Freese, who received cuts and bruises, was reported as "fair."

Peter Mikaloff, Mansfield R. D. 4, and two passengers in his car, Miss Ruth Jackson, 24 Wolfe avenue, and Frank Reinoehl, Mansfield R. D. 4, escaped with minor cuts and bruises when Mikaloff lost control of his car on West Sandusky street in Ashland and struck a utility pole.

Three other persons received only slight injuries late Saturday in a collision on State Route 61 near Shelby. Harley C. Hoyles, 18, of Attica R. D. 2 and Charlotte Fife, 18, of Willard, received cuts and bruises when their automobile collided with another operated by Clyde W. Lykins, 19, of Willard. Lykins also suffered bruises. State highway patrolmen reported that six automobile tires were destroyed in the accident.

In the only serious accident in the city, Paul Zitka, 65, of 367 Cedar street, received a possible fractured shoulder when his automobile struck a utility pole late yesterday at the intersection of South Main street and Greenwood avenue.

Seven persons died in traffic accidents on state highways. They included:

John Camden of Columbus, 67-year-old war worker who was enjoying his first holiday from work in several months, was killed a block from his home Sunday when a Pennsylvania passenger train struck his automobile.

Frank Cherny, 37, Cleveland, died when his truck and an automobile collided. John McNamara, 42, also of Cleveland, died of injuries received in a traffic accident.

Edward McCulley, 43, Cincinnati railroad employe, was killed when an automobile struck him while he stood on a curb.

Joseph I. Miller, 31, of Columbus, died in a Springfield hospital six hours after his automobile collided with a trailer near Springfield on route 40.

Robert J. Whittacre, 24, Ludlow Falls, was injured fatally when his automobile struck a tree near West Milton.

William Roberts, 28-year-old manager of a Painesville taxicab company, was killed when the automobile he was driving went out of control and overturned near Painesville.

PROTESTS CITY BLACKOUT LAW

Industrial Defense Chief Says Ordinance Hardship on Industry Here.

working on war production which should not be stopped," said Carrigan.

"Having a blackout system for homes is a simple matter," he continued, "all you need do is turn off the lights or to install blackout curtains. With an industrial plant, it is far different."

The Westinghouse defense chief explained that pumps, fire alarm systems, telephone systems and several other pieces of apparatus are operating on the same electric network as the lights and that "the pulling of one main switch would not solve the problem."

"Then, too, there's the human factor. If we plunge hundreds of workers into sudden darkness, there is almost certain to be some hysterics among the men as well as the women."

Carrigan said the city was in an "uncritical" area but that blackouts would serve to make the people conscious of the war program.

"We will, with the aid of army officers, get the plant into shape so that we can have a blackout in the event of an emergency," said Carrigan.

The defense chief said that he understood an industrial committee was to be appointed to study the problem of blacking out industrial plants during blackouts or air raid tests.

WARN FRENCH OF INVASION

British Broadcast Appeal For Evacuation of Coastal Area.

tion" and urged inhabitants of the coastal areas to hurry their departures as much as possible.

The radio referred to the first bulletin of instruction as "notice No. 1."

"Here is notice No. 2," the broadcast said. It added:

"Don't wait until the last moment. It would be too late. Go away at the earliest possible moment."

The notice acknowledged that the Germans would place difficulties in the way of the evacuation, but urged Frenchmen to overcome such obstacles.

It was not possible to specify either the time or place of the contemplated operations, it added.

Britain Continues Bombing Raids

LONDON— (U.P.) —Fighter and coastal command planes took the place of long range bombers, grounded by bad weather, in widespread punishing raids over German occupied territory along a 400-mile stretch of the invasion coast during the night.

Fighters fiercely attacked airdromes in Holland and northern France and attacked other key targets while coastal command planes kept up a new drive against enemy shipping.

The fighters bombed the great freight yards near Caen, on the French coast between Le Havre and Cherbourg, and shot up a freight train at Montdidier, 55 miles north of Paris.

American-built Douglas Boston light bombers plastered the enemy airdrome at Leeuwarden, Holland, inland from the Frisian islands and their crews saw one big fire burning from 40 miles away on their way homeward.

Attacking enemy ships off the Frisian islands, which fringe the Netherlands and German coasts, they hit a medium sized ship amidships with a bomb and returned without loss.

The sudden silencing shortly before 1 a. m. of the Berlin radio indicated that the long range bombers were in the air to continue the greatest aerial offensive in world history.

But the hope proved false, and the Germans apparently were just being careful when planes were detected over France and Holland.

TIRE STOLEN

SHELBY—The left wheel and tire on a car owned by Bob King, 44 East Main street, was stolen over the week-end, while the car was parked in a downtown parking lot, King told police.

Sport Podge by REX HESS

I've been workin' on the railroad——

Well, no, I haven't, but I know some guys who have, and are, but how long they will is a moot question.

The guys are a flock of Mansfield high school football players, getting in shape for next fall's campaign.

And I hope they are training for that Tyger Express of 1942, and not for a slow freight or handcar ride.

It just goes to show you what a good JOB WANTED ad in the paper will do for you. Of course this was a pretty good ad, and all for the free too, appearing in this space a week or so ago.

It said Coach Paul Snyder of the Tyger gridders was looking for hard jobs for the summer for his heroes, something that'd send 'em back to school in the fall hard as nails and twice as sharp.

And now I hear every one of the boys has a tough summer job, a flock of them as section hands. What the old time section hands said this morning when they saw the kids reporting for work I wouldn't even guess.

Even big Bill Snowden, Tyger center, has forsaken the calling that Red Grange made famous, and has gone to section handing.

"There wasn't near the dough in that ice packing racket that there is in driving spikes," Bill explained. "And besides I understand this will put me in just as good shape without giving me that perpetual cold shoulder.

"And besides that cold shoulder stuff never appealed to me. I'm a friendly soul at heart."

What this will do to Snyder's tactical plans for next autumn we can only guess.

But don't be surprised if he comes up with a choo-choo shift and a roundhouse reverse. And there may be plays called "Old 49" and Casey Jones, and such. The delayed buck, of course, would be the Caboose Crawl, and a quick-opening play would have to be the Streamliner.

Heigh ho for the life of a section hand,
I wonder what it's like,
To trod the ties to beat the the band,
Then stop and drive a spike.

* * *

Besides working on the assembly line at Tappan's, high school track Coach Harry Mehock is keeping in shape these summer months with spade and hoe and other outdoor implements.

He's planted a Victory garden at Coach Paul Snyder's farm near Mifflin. And his potatoes he planted in rows eight feet apart.

"Those potatoes will never grow," Farmer Snyder informed Mehock.

"Why not?" indignantly demanded Merry Harry.

"They're so far apart they'll die of loneliness," retorted Snyder.

Al Smith Cuts Down Bonham

Ends Ernie's Streak at Eight Straight Wins.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEARLY everybody in the major leagues, it seems is working on a "streak" of some kind these days, but the ones who hope to keep them intact will take a tip from the New York Yankees and steer clear of Al Smith, the Cleveland southpaw.

Ernie Bonham is the latest to tangle with Lefty Al.

Sporting a record of eight straight victories and topping the pitching ranks of both leagues, undefeated Ernie went after number nine against the Indians yesterday before 71,919 customers.

But Smith had ideas of his own. Joe Heving lasted less than an inning against the American league leaders, who drove him to cover with three hits and as many runs. Then Smith came along and checked the Yanks with a single run the rest of the way while his mates tore into Bonham and tied the score. Smith lashed out a hit for the run that won the game, 5-4.

Last season it was Smith who stopped Joe DiMaggio after the Yankee clipper had hit safely in 56 consecutive games, although on that occasion he had a collaborator in the late innings in Jim Bagby.

Cleveland's success was short-lived yesterday, however, for the Yanks splattered home runs all over the place in the second game, winning 13-1 behind Spud Chandler's five-hit pitching and dumping the Indians into fourth place as the Boston Red Sox moved into third.

* * *

The Detroit Tigers held on to second place in the American league, ten games behind the Yanks, by dividing a double bill with the Washington Senators. Detroit took the first game, 6-4, but the Senators won 8-0 in the afterpiece.

The Boston Red Sox tripped the Chicago White Sox twice, winning both games by a score of 3-2 and scoring the winning runs in the final frames.

Continuing their flirt with the first division, the St. Louis Browns knocked off the Philadelphia Athletics in both games, 5-2 and 7-1.

In the National league, the Cincinnati Reds took a pair from the tumbling Boston Braves and moved into third place, vacated by the New York Giants who lost a twin bill to the St. Louis Cardinals

Four unearned runs helped the Reds win their first game, 6-2, but it took a ninth-inning homer by Ray Lamanno to decide the second, 3-2.

* * *

Howard Pollet pitched the Cards to a 4-1 triumph over the Giants in their opener and Mort Cooper made it unanimous with a four-hit 2-0 shutout.

The Brooklyn Dodgers clung to their seven-game lead over the Cards by winning a pair from the Chicago Cubs, 8-4 and 4-3.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who replaced the Cubs in sixth place, came from behind twice to nip the Philadelphia Phils, 5-4, in ten innings, and 8-6 in a game held to seven innings by the Sunday law

Alsab Proves No Standout

Shut Out Seems to Lack Popular Appeal.

By JACK GUENTHER

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—For the fourth time in five years, members of the association of turf experts and tea leaf readers, unlimited, today bowed to what rapidly is becoming accepted as the inevitable. Once again, all legs of the triple crown have been run without producing even a remotely accurate facsimile of a three-year-old champion.

* * *

Since only good news is supposed to travel fast, you may not yet have heard that Alsab has blown another one. Well, he has. The latest in a long line of "second Man O' Wars" was trimmed fairly and squarely in the Belmont Stake, the race in which he was supposed to have wrapped the 1942 turf title up in his pink and blue silks and mailed it to the historians.

Little 'Sab was beaten by Shut Out. You probably remember the latter horse. He won the Kentucky Derby a month ago and is a pretty fair piece of blue-blooded horse flesh. Shut Out can run. He proved it often enough before he ever came up to the Belmont. But he lacks one thing. That is popular appeal. The reason, the public just doesn't cotton to Shut Out.

Nor do the experts. So today instead of writing that the $700 Alsab has tucked the crown away in the family safe, they are penning pieces declaring the title won't be decided until the $25,000 Dwyer Stakes this month or, more probably, the Arlington classic on July 25.

In this they are completely correct—or as completely correct as it is possible for any expert to be. Shut Out has two firsts and a fifth for his appearances in the three races which comprise the triple crown Alsab has one first and two seconds. Obviously, neither has a clear claim at this stage. Another rubber match must still be run.

Both title claimants—and now they are the only title claimants—are eligible for the Dwyer and the classic. Alsab's handlers claim he needs lots of work and he may start in other races before those two come around. Shut Out, however, will be reserved exclusively for the big ones.

After Saturday's race I'm convinced of one thing—Alsab is no standout. You might even say he is no Shut Out. He has won only two of 12 starts this year. That argument—did he fall or was he pushed?—is glaring all over again but if you'll pardon me, this is where I came in.

Build Special Pit For Record

Warmerdam Tries For New Pole Vault Mark.

EVANSTON, Ill.—(INS)—They were moving the pole vault pit at Northwestern university today for the especial benefit of Cornelius Warmerdam, the Pacific coast marvel who recently set a world record of 15 feet, 7¾ inches in the vault.

The west coast school teacher will try to beat this record when he appears in the Big Ten-Pacific coast dual track meet at Northwestern Tuesday night, June 16.

K. L. Wilson, Northwestern university athletic director, said every effort would be made to prepare an ideal runway and jumping pit for the record-breaking attempt

Gets First Ace

JIM NEWCOMB

Firing a seven iron shot at the 132-yard No. 8 green at Westbrook Country club yesterday, Jim Newcomb scored the first hole-in-one of the 1942 Mansfield golf season.

Newcomb's tee shot hit on the green, rolled up to the hole, and dropped. Just as simple as that. But no aces were reported on the Westbrook course last year. Newcomb was playing with a guest, Paul McCabe.

Fence Busters Keep Up Pace In Both Big Leagues

Willard Marshall Giants

Rudy York Tigers

Joe DiMaggio Yanks

Ted Williams Red Sox

Distance clouting in the major leagues is booming this year as always with the old reliables busting the fences day after day. In the American league, Ted Williams, the lanky outfielder of the Boston Red Sox, is in the lead, having knocked out 15 home runs in 45 games. Closely following him are Rudy York, the socking first baseman of the Tigers and Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee Clipper whose bat average has taken a fall. In the senior loop, Dolf Camilli of the Dodgers and Mel Ott of the New York Giants are having a bit of competition from Willard Marshall, the hard-hitting Giant rookie up from Atlanta. Marshall plays the outfield.

Trapshooters Save Shot For Further Use On Clay Targets

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A spectator stood behind the firing line yesterday at Ohio's 56th annual trapshoot—largest state clay target event in the country's history—and as 220 marksmen blazed away 200 times each with 12-gauge shotguns he asked:

"Why can't all that ammunition be used in the war effort?

It looked as if he had something there, so we rounded up some of the boys who should know the answers.

We cornered Ray Loring, manager of the Amateur Trapshooting association which presents the grand America 1,000,000 target event at Vandalia each year, and Ernest Wolfe of Charleston, W. Va., winner of the 1940 Grand American handicap—the No. 1 prizes in the sport.

Loring said:

"Well, in the first place, there's nothing lost out there that would aid the war effort. The powder in shotgun shells isn't used in any other kind of shell or cartridge. The lead pellets—and they're firing away four and a half tons of them in this shoot—are practically all recovered. And the brass from the shells isn't lost, for every shell is picked up and finds its way into new ammunition."

Wolfe chimed in with: "if the government should take over all the shotgun ammunition on hand, it couldn't get any usable material other than the brass and the lead. So what's the use of cutting up the manufacture ammunition to get these things when none of them is lost? At least 96 per cent of the lead is salvaged by the mining operations performed out there in front of the traps after the big shoot."

The 314 marksmen who participated in the big shoot fired away approximately 130,000 shells in the three-day barrage. Each shell contained an ounce and an eighth of lead shot—making a total of approximately 9,100 pounds or four and one-half tons. About the same amount of brass from the used shells was available for other uses immediately

Karl Maust, Columbus salesman, retained the state singles and all-around championships in the final day's firing, while Mrs. Peters of Springfield, wife of the former association president, won the women's crown.

Maust and Joe Hiestand, the Hillsboro farmer, broke 200 straight in the regular event, and then cracked another 150 in a row in the shootoff to remain tied In the next 25-target event, however, Hiestand missed three while Maust got 'em all.

Mrs. Peters wrested the women's title from Cincinnati's Florence Mos, 1941 queen, in a 75-target shootoff after they had tied at 191 of 200. C. J. Mos, father of Florence, won the professional laurels with 199 of 200, while Ralph Leist, jr., of Pataskala, won the junior title with 183 of 200.

Pesky Proves That To Foe

Threatens to Become Season's Best Rookie.

By BILL KING
(Wide World Features)

BOSTON—When such an infallible expert as Connie Mack rated the 1942 Boston Red Sox as "the most improved club in the American league" and such a qualified critic as Jimmy Foxx described it as "the best team on which I have played," they were thinking about Johnny Pesky, the 21-year-old Portland, Ore., product who threatens to become the season's outstanding rookie.

Pesky, born Paveskovitch, apparently has made the wide jump from sandlots to a major league shortstop berth in three seasons. Despite his tender years and lack of experience, he not only has enabled Joe Cronin to retire to bench-managing without misgivings but also has managed to set many of that once harassed pilot's sluggish stars again aflame with his enthusiasm and amazing speed.

Cronin frankly admits the Sockers have the tightest infield in many years with Pesky at short instead of himself and he also gives the youngster credit for the improvement that amazed baseball authorities have noted in his habitually erratic pitching staff.

* * *

"Pesky can go farther to his right than any shortstop now in the majors," Cronin boasts. "He is getting most of those drives that had been going between third and short and starting double plays on them. That's the fielding that gives pitchers a mighty lift. Why, we had 27 twin killings in our first 20 games! It usually took us to July 4 to get that many."

The youngster who broke into pro ball with the Rocky Mount club in the Class B Piedmont League only two years ago, is five-feet-nine and weighs 165. Although built for speed, he is a sharp line-dirver and now is being taught the art of drag bunting by Cronin, who has hopes of freezing his batting average around the .335-mark.

If Johnny can roll bunts down the first and third base lines and keep on driving hard straightaway, he'll get a lot of extra singles," Cronin predicts. "He gets that important extra step as a lefthand batter and he's like a streak of lightning."

Although Pesky appears to have an unusual amount of self-condidence and poise for one of such limited experience, he is far from being the cocky type.

* * *

I still have trouble convincing myself I am in the majors," he admits. "Why only two seasons ago I was worrying about making good with Rocky Mount."

* * *

Despite his instantaneous success, Pesky has no illusions about himself. "I am far from being the best shortstop in the business but I'm eager to learn to become just that," he said. "I had my share of faults when I reported to the Red Sox this spring but Joe Cronin has removed some of them for me.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—Wide World—Suggestion we'd like to see tried: Charles O'Connor, Cincinnati Times-Star golf expert, comes up with an idea for an open military golf tournament this summer, which undoubtedly would net a nice bit of change for the relief societies or other charity . . . It would only require about a week's furlough for the boys in uniform, he points out, and the service roster includes such crack amateurs as Bud Ward, Johnny Fischer, Pat Abbott, Willie Turnesa, Dick Chapman, Tommy Tailer and Charley Yates and Professionals Sammy Snead, Jim Turnesa, Vic Chezzi, Porky Oliver and a flock of others.

INITIAL ERROR

When the Red Sox made a trip to Washington recently, Thomas William Oscar (lefty) Judd turned his luggage over to a porter while he went to buy a newspaper—losing track of the prospective tip, the red cap approached Manager Joe Cronin and asked, "Where is that two Jay man?" . . . "You mean double v, don't you?" asked Cronin, thinking of Jimmy Foxx . . . "No," insisted the red cap, "I mean two Jay; here it is right on the bag." . . . Sure enough, the bag was marked T.W.O.J.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Sgt. Ralph Eckhart, signal corps message, Ft. Monmouth, N. J: "As a fulltime employe of Louis and Company, George Nicholson collects 25 smackeroos daily for his hit-and-miss routine. That is considerable cabbage to collect over a period of time, and averages higher than a few hits at the box office. Personally, however, we'd rather drive a truck fora living than get hit by one."

That Face Looks Familiar

Know that young man in the center, above, in the uniform of the Cleveland Indians? You're right, that's Bob Feller, back in the uniform in which he won fame. But it was strictly a one-day stand. Feller, now in the United States Navy, was on leave and joined his former teammates in New York to pitch to them in batting practice before a game with the Yankees. That's Indian Manager Lou Boudreau at left and Tommy Heurich of the Yanks, right.

Gutwein Leads In Qualifier

Cincinnati Golfer Shoots Two-Under-Par Total.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Bob Gutwein of Cincinnati shot a two-under par 211 at Kenwood Country club course over the week-end to top eight sectional qualifiers for the Hale America open golf tournament finals at Chicago next week.

Gutwein, youthful pro at nearby Wyoming and local P. G. A. champ, had a par 71 Saturday and two 70's Sunday to finish a stroke behind Byron Nelson of Toledo, former national open champion. Nelson, exempt from qualifying, had a 210 exhibition score of 69-71—70 for the 54 holes.

Reggie Myles of Columbia Station, O., capped a 74 in the first round with two 69's to tie Tony Penna of Dayton for second with 212. Courtney Noe of Louisville, Ky., was fourth with 213.

Bobby Servis of Dayton, former Ohio amateur champion, had the low amateur card of 215, which tied for fifth with Johnny Malutic, Bedford, O., pro whose four-under-par 67 in the final 18 was the tournament's best round.

In a play-off for two remaining qualifying places, Fred Gronauer of Indianapolis sank a 48-foot putt to birdie the first hole and become seventh qualifier. Billy Burke of Cleveland chipped a 45-footer into the cup for a birdie to win the eighth and qualifying place. Art Smith of Cincinnati took top place among five alternates. Other alternates were Wally Chadwell of Cincinnati, Fred Beirne of Lexington, Ky., and Jack Ryan of Louisville.

Of 72 players entered, only 52 finished the 54 holes.

PROVIDENTS RAINED OUT AT SPRINGFIELD

Provident Loan girls, state softball champions, traveled to Springfield yesterday for nothing more than batting practice. They were taking their pre-game cuts with the willow when the deluge descended, and the game was rained out.

Springfield, one of the best teams in last year's state tournament, is scheduled here for a doubleheader Sunday, June 21.

Murder On the Avenue

By Carolyn Wells

(Copyright, 1942.)

CHAPTER XXX

"And a kitten, too," added Dunn, reminiscently, "a tiny little kitten, that Miss Emmy loved. And Master just killed it like you would a fly."

But Stone had had enough about Hugh's cruelty. He asked if Mr. Hugh would stay in the apartment, and what about Mr. Angus?

But Dunn knew nothing of their plans. He felt sure he would be retained as the old man's nurse, even if the second apartment was vacated.

* * *

It was after dinner that night, when Stone telephoned to Captain Raynor, and told him that he felt sure of the identity of the McCleod murderer, but that his decision could be proved only by the confession of the criminal.

"Come on, then," was Raynor's response. "Let's go and get the confession."

So they went to the McCleod apartment, where, Stone said, they ought to get some first-hand information.

Hugh greeted them in a dully unresponsive manner, and invited them to be seated.

"It would seem," he said, wearily, "that I might have been left alone this evening."

"It would seem so," Stone agreed, "but we have some business that must be attended to. "I will ask Dickson to remain in the room, please."

Dickson had been hovering round, taking the men's hats and placing chairs for them. At a nod from Stone, he took a chair in the back of the room, looking very distressed.

"Mr. McCleod," Raynor began, "I believe you were the one to find your sister after her tragic death."

"Yes, I went into that room within a short time of the murderer's leaving it."

"You know the criminal, then?"

"Of course I do, Captain Raynor, and so do you! It was Mr. Murray."

"I don't think it was," Stone said, quietly. "I have seen him and although he was here, talking with your sister, he left Miss Emmy alive and well."

"Of course he would tell you that, Mr. Stone, but why should you believe him? He had motive and opportunity; he is a man of quick temper and strong passions. He wanted my sister to buy some worthless shares in some faked mining operations, and because she would not do so, he lost his temper and struck her, probably with no intent of hurting her severely, but merely to frighten her or else because he was furious."

"You can understand a nature of that sort, Mr. McCleod," said Stone. "I think you are high-tempered yourself."

This was said with no hint of censure.

"I used to be, Mr. Stone, but by diligent effort I curbed my passions and, I am thankful to say, I am now of an equable nature."

Without heeding this statement, Stone went on:

"Brand Herrick is under arrest for the murder of your wife. I have examined the records of the evidence and I find that the assumption of his guilt is founded on the account of the order in which four men entered the room where she was at the time of her death. I want you to help me get justice done, by telling me your recollection of the occasion."

"I cannot do that, Mr. Stone. You forget that I have just attended the burial of my dear sister."

"No, I have not forgotten that. But I saw Mr. Haynes today, and he said: 'Mr. Stone, you are thinking I killed Mrs. McCleod; but I didn't and Brand Herrick didn't either.'"

"I am not surprised, Mr Stone. Haynes is, no doubt, right. It is my firm belief that the two crimes were committed by the same hand, the hand of Ogden Murray."

"But why would he kill your wife" Raynor exclaimed.

"Whoever killed my wife did it because of love for her, unreturned and unwanted love. We know it was one of her young men friends. The motive would be the same with all of them."

"Not with Herrick," Fleming Stone said emphatically. "Have you any proof against Murray?"

"Only my innate conviction, which in this case is borne out by the circumstances."

"No, it is not. The young men who were so closely questioned by Captain Raynor as to the order of entering the room that night, did not all tell the truth. When you went in, Mr. McCleod, and found your wife there alone, some man had just gone out at the other door. And when you asked her who the man was she said it was Brand Herrick. It was that lie that put Herrick where he is now."

"How dare you say such a thing? You—"

"Hush! It was Haynes who came in. He brought her the diamond bangle. She told him she heard your step and he fled, just as you entered."

"All that is absurd, Mr. Stone. Had it been so, I would have been questioned, perhaps suspected of my wife's death."

"You were given an alibi by your devoted sister. Although she knew the time when you went up to her apartment just then, she falsified it, and said you came up there a half hour or more before you did."

"You insult my wife's memory and now you are traducing my dead sister! Then it was Ogden Murray, in both cases!"

"No, sir, it was not!"

"Then who was it?"

"You!" said Fleming Stone.

"And you need not deny it!" cried Raynor. "We want confession, not denial. It is useless for you to try to get out of it; we have too much on you. That old coin—plack, is it—found on the couch under your wife's dead body—it had dropped from your waistcoat pocket as you were engaged in your dastardly deed. You pretended you had given it to her, but your own man assures me it never left your possession."

"Dickson!" Hugh almost screamed, as he looked at the accusing face of his faithful servant. "Would you betray me?"

In a trembling voice the answer came:

"Not while I loved you and respected you and had faith in you, Mr. McCleod. But I saw too much and heard too much that night of the party. I saw you kill Mrs. McCleod and I know that you killed Miss Emmy."

Dickson's deep emotion made him speak in a low croak. Raynor and Fleming Stone knew that every word Dickson said was true.

"Didn't you mind these young men who were always hovering about your wife?" Stone asked the stricken Hugh.

"Did I mind them?" he shouted. "I wanted to throttle every one of them! But Alma had made me promise never to interfere in her flirtations, as they meant nothing. She loved only me. But she was false; she had more than flirtations with them, and when I found that out—"

McCleod tried to control himself, but he fell into a spasm of volcanic rage, and would have toppled off his chair, but Dickson went to him quickly.

Raynor was devoid of sympathy for this unspeakable villain. He said:

"Hugh McCleod, I arrest you for the murder of your wife and your sister."

Several men, some in uniform, some in plain clothes, who had been waiting within hearing, entered, and McCleod was taken away.

"To you belongs the pleasure of telling Mr. Herrick what you have done for him," Raynor said to Fleming Stone.

"Shall I tell him he is free?" Stone's voice was husky.

"Yes, yes! Get him out of that place quick—quick!"

"I'll tell him. I have the other side of this affair to look after, too. Herrick will be freed from prison, but he may fall out of the frying-pan into the fire."

"Oh, Miss Deane isn't as bad as all that?"

"Maybe not, but she is a little tartar! Yet she is Brand's ticket to affluence and happiness."

Dickson came to Stone and asked for a moment of his time.

"You see, Mr. Stone, that night when I saw Mr. Herrick with Mrs. McCleod in the little elevator, she said something about a secret he had told her. He turned on her in anger, and said, 'Don't you dare tell that!' He was so angry it made her saucy—she was that way—and she played a trick on him by pretending they were caught in the elevator. Now, I'm telling you this Mr. Stone, as it may be of importance to Mr. Herrick, see? And nothing matters to Mrs. McCleod now."

Fleming Stone dared not sympathize with the poor fellow, for he was ready to break down as it was. So he said, "I want to see you again, Dickson. I'll let you know. Do anything you can for Mr. McCleod and for his father."

"Yes, Mr. Stone. Good night, sir."

"Good night, Dickson, I'll see you soon."

Stone had his car with him, and he lit out for the jail, with a well-founded hope that it would be his last visit there to Brand Herrick.

And he enjoyed telling his news. Brand Herrick listened, amazed.

"You did it! Old Man, you did it!" said Herrick gratefully.

"Come on," Stone urged, "smash what you want in a little suitcase, and you can send up for the rest of your stuff. Come on, you've got to tell Bliss tonight."

Soon they were on their way.

"Hi!" exclaimed the freed captive, "how about my wife?"

"Oh, come along! She'll keep. What makes you think she wants to tie up with you?"

"You said the only drawback was my being—er, incarcerated."

"I didn't say that was the only difficulty. But never mind her now."

"She must be reckoned with."

"Sure, but now you've time enough to woo her properly. Look here! What was the secret between you and Mrs. McCleod? You were heard to tell her never to reveal it."

"Yes, I know. Dickson caught that when he saw us in the hall where that little elevator is. It was only about the Webb inheritance. Uncle Jason was alive, then, of course, and no one knew anything about his crazy will. But Alma had quizzed me about him, and I had foolishly told her that I might be his heir."

WATCH GOERING! SAY THOSE WHO KNOW GERMANY

Writer Speculates on Whether Hitler's Last 'Crony' Will Abandon Him.

(Editor's Note: Louis P. Lochner, back in America after five months' internment in Germany, analyzes for Wide World and The News-Journal the men closest to Hitler.)

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

NEW YORK —(Wide World)— Will Hermann Goering, like Rudolf Hess, some day abandon the Hitler burning ship?

Will he conspire against Hitler like Ernst Roehm, or will he go down with his master?

This subject is discussed in whispers among men and women in Germany who still do a little thinking of their own.

When Hitler seized power in 1933, there were three men upon whom he relied more implicitly than anybody else. They were Roehm, head of the brown-shirted SA troops, the only Nazi to whom Hitler addressed the familiar "Du" of the German language; Hess, his trusted personal secretary and later deputy fuehrer; and Goering, his political right-hand man.

Roehm was executed during the purge of June, 1934, for conspiring to depose Hitler and set himself up in his place. Hess flew to England under dramatic circumstances in May, 1941. Goering remains as field marshal, chief of the air force, president of the Reichstag, premier of Prussia, head forester of the Reich, and director of the gigantic German four year plan for economic self-sufficiency.

The Roehm revolt lies too far back to be remembered by the German people in these fast-moving times. Besides, Roehm was a dissolute character, and not many tears were shed over him.

The Hess escape had a far more profound repercussion. Here was a man who always was regarded as his master's shadow. He never appears to have had an idea of his own; his job was that of executing his master's will.

Suddenly he fled. Was it as bad as all that with Nazism? The masses asked.

Only a day or two before his sensational departure they had read the speech he delivered in awarding the title of "pioneer of labor" to airplane designer Messerschmidt. After the British announced the arrival of Hess in Scotland, the German radio blared out the explanation that Hess had been demented for some time.

"If Hess is a sample, how many other men in high places are crazy?" I heard more than one German say.

The regime must have realized that the explanation about Hess' suddenly becoming crazy was not convincing with the masses. The Goebbels propaganda ministry employed typical Nazi methods—an order was issued to the press that all discussion or even mention of the Hess case must cease immediately.

Hess' flight left only Hermann Goering of Hitler's original three main props. Goebbels is still there, but Hitler never has trusted him as completely as he did the other three.

It is well-known that Goering from time to time is in the Hitler doghouse. It is the luxury with which Goering loves to surround himself which irks his master. Hitler doesn't mind his boys enriching themselves and going in for high living, only they mustn't put it on too thick.

Furthermore, Goering is an officer from imperialist days. He always has remained a monarchist at heart.

Watch Goering, is all that the trained observer of German politics can say to inquiring compatriots.

THEATERS

Unusual Romance.

The way of a man with a maid is given a new twist in "Tortilla Flats," a picturesque filmization of John Steinbeck's novel at the Ohio. John Garfield makes the novel present of an electric vacuum cleaner to the pigtailed charmer of a Monterey settlement when he wants to win her heart in his role of Danny, one of the few California pasianos with possessions. Hedy Lamarr plays opposite Garfield and Spencer Tracy completes the top filling in the philosophical character of "Pilon."

Action Drama.

A knock-down drag-out battle of fisticuffs highlights "The Spoilers," Madison attraction, that teems with action furnished by Randolph Scott, John Wayne, Marlene Dietrich and hundreds of others. Saga of the Klondike in the days of '98 the picture primarily concerns the fight of two men to win the love of one woman. Judy Canova becomes a buck private in "True to the Army," the second attraction with Jerry Colonna.

Technicolor Comedy.

The riotous schemes devised by a young man to free himself from a band of wily politicians are depicted in "Louisiana Purchase," the Bob Hope, Vera Zorina, Victor Moore starring vehicle at the Ritz. Hope plays the catspaw who enlists the aid of a beautiful dancer to help him accomplish his purpose. Moore has the part of a mythical representative of the mythical state of Louisiana. Irving Berlin wrote the songs for the show. "Night Train" is the co-feature.

Battle Thriller.

An entirely fictional story is told in "Remember Pearl Harbor," the Park attraction that deals with the exploits of a dauntless band of American soldiers engaged in defending the Philippines. The battle scenes are also fictional but they are dedicated to the men who defend America's far-flung frontiers. Donald M. Barry and Fay McKenzie are featured. Lupe Velez and Leo Carillo appear in "Honolulu Lu," the second picture.

HOROSCOPE

FOR TUESDAY, JUNE 9

Perplexing as well as conflicting auguries are found in this day's astrological forecast. While there are several excellent prospects for a progressive and prosperous state of affairs, yet there may be dangers of implusive, rash, tempestuous acts of a ruthless or drastic suddenness. This might precipitate violent or passionate deeds bound to negate the benefic influences.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves deep in a year in which their progress and good fortune depend upon individual restraints, moderation and control, with a shrewd and capable manipulation of excellent prospects for constructive enterprise with sound and enduring fulfillments. There may be suddenly arising situations calling for decisive or drastic action, but such should be pursued with temperate and wise methods, not tempest, turbulence and confusion.

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

OFFER CYCLISTS FREE PAINT JOB

KANSAS CITY, Mo. —(U.P.)— Most of the 40,000 bicycles in Kansas City will be painted white, if citizens cooperate with the police department.

In making tests police found that bicycles painted white were much safer for night use, as they could be seen more easily by motorists.

The police agreed to paint the bicycles free of charge if riders would bring them in.

WOODCITY IS ABOUT TWO HOURS DRIVE FROM HERE.
OH, MY POOR DARLING. HOW BADLY DID THEY SAY HE WAS HURT?
THEY DIDN'T SAY.
THEN SHOULD I TELL HIM THE CHARGES HAVE BEEN WITHDRAWN AND HE'S A FREE MAN?
IT WON'T DO ANY GOOD—HE'S DELIRIOUS!

OFFER CYCLISTS FREE PAINT JOB

KANSAS CITY, Mo. —(U.P.)— Most of the 40,000 bicycles in Kansas City will be painted white, if citizens cooperate with the police department.

In making tests police found that bicycles painted white were much safer for night use, as they could be seen more easily by motorists.

The police agreed to paint the bicycles free of charge if riders would bring them in.

Complete Allocation of Steel Distribution Seen Necessary.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK —Fractional advances predominated today's stock market.

Improvement was registered for U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Youngstown Sheet, Johns-Manville and Union Carbide.

Trend students scanned the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that, while new orders for the metal have declined, mills were receiving specifications against preferred contracts in heavier volume, in many cases exceeding shipments. The belief was growing, it was added, that complete allocation must be undertaken to distribute steel where most needed.

Notice also was taken of the announcement of the director of industry operations that, to provide necessary tin for urgent needs of the armament program and civilian food supply, tin used in non-critical products would be cut another 10 per cent beginning July 1.

U. S. Evacuates 100,000 Japs From West Coast Area.

SAN FRANCISCO — (INS) — Hailed as an achievement without precedent in American history, the evacuation of approximately 100,000 Japanese from primary military zones of Washington, Oregon, California and Arizona has been completed, the western defense command announced today.

In announcing completion of the vast removal program within 28 days, it was pointed out the task was accomplished within the time designated by Lieut. Gen. J. L. DeWitt, with minimum hardship and almost without incident.

By actual count, 99,770 persons of Japanese ancestry were removed from the coastal area.

GAS RATIONS DECISION DUE

Mansfield Motorists to Learn This Week Whether They'll Get Limited Supply.

lons a week. Thus, easterners stand to gain a slight advantage if the president decides that the rubber situation is serious enough to curtail driving even in states with plentiful supplies.

The next WPB meeting, postponed from Tuesday to Wednesday because of Chairman Donald M. Nelson's absence, may make final plans to carry out nationwide rationing if the president gives the go ahead signal.

Meanwhile, Dean explained that in order to obtain gasoline above the basis "A" ration under the new system for the east, motorists would have to establish the following:

1. That the amount of gasoline permitted under his "A" card was insufficient for necessary driving.
2. That the motorist used his car in connection with his work, including going from his residence to his job.
3. That the owner was a member of a car pool carrying at least three others going in his general direction.
4. That bus service or other public conveyances were unavailable.

He said that in forming car pools preference would be given to the larger capacity automobiles carrying four or more passengers. The motorist who owns a coupe may have difficulty in obtaining supplementary rations.

We Reprint a Well Known Classic
PLEASE READ ALOUD
I had twelve bottles of whiskey in my cellar, and my wife told me to empty the contents of each and every bottle down the sink or else. So I said I would, and proceeded with the unpleasant task.
I withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass that I drank. I extracted the cork from the second bottle and did likewise, with the exception of one glass which I drank. I then withdrew the cork from the third bottle and emptied the booze down the sink, with the exception of one glass which I drank. I pulled the cork from the fourth sink and poured the bottle down the glass, which I drank. I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink of it and poured the rest down the glass. I pulled the sink out of the next glass and poured the cork down the bottle. I pulled the next cork out of my throat and poured the sink down the bottle and drank the glass. Then I corked the sink with the glass, bottled the drink and drank the pour.
When I had everything emptied out, I steadied the house with one hand, and counted the bottles, cork and glasses with the other which were twenty-nine. To be sure, I counted again when they came around and I had seventy-four and as the house came by I counted them all again and finally I had all the houses and bottles and corks and the glasses counted, except one house and one bottle which I drank.
